Award bid

LAKE VILLA—The Lake Villa Township Board of Trustees awarded a bid, March 12, for a garbage and recycling plan for township residents, excluding Lindenhurst. According to Township Supv. Sue Hanson, the contract was awarded to Jensen Disposal Service, Mundelein, at a cost of $9.96 per month. Jensen will provide 90 gallon containers for garbage and 18 gallon containers for recyclables.

Price is high

ANTIOCH—The first of three rounds of disciplinary hearings against employees of the Antioch Police Department is underway. Antioch Mayor Robert Wilton estimates that the process before the village's police and fire commission could add up to as much as a $30,000 price-tag for taxpayers.

Politics charged

LIBERTYVILLE—Appointment of Dorothy Connors, wife of a local political activist, to the Libertyville Twp. Plan Comm. is called political by former Supv. F.T. "Mike" Graham. He created the commission three years ago. Connors last year won a settlement of $30,000 from the new township administration for legal fees she incurred when Graham would not allow her to view a list of township general assistance recipients.

Salute servicemen

MUNDELEIN—Servicemen returning from the Persian Gulf will be presented with one of the 19 flags flying at village war memorial until all servicemen return. Also, the July Fourth holiday that is incorporated into Mundelein Days, will be a special day of tribute and celebration to the veterans.

Eyeing budget hike

ROUND LAKE—Round Lake School Dist. 116 is looking at the possibility of amending their 1990-1991 school budget, raising it to compensate for Gov. James Edgar's proposed tax extension cap. The financially-troubled district is worried about the loss of revenue if the proposed cap is put in place, and wants to legally obtain as much revenue as possible to counter the effects of the cap.

New P.I.E. protest

GRAYSLAKE—Although Shawn and John Bixler, and atheist Robert Sherman's protest of an English class assignment at Grayslake High School has been successfully settled, a new protest, let by Parents for Integrity in Education (P.I.E.), has been launched against the same assignment, connected to the Washington Irving story "The Devil and Tom Walker." The group wants the complete removal of the assignment, rather than the posted notice of alternative assignment availability that the Bixlers and Sherman agreed upon. P.I.E. also objects to the book "The Catcher in the Rye," and the high school production of "Brighton Beach Memoirs." According to Grayslake High School Principal Charles Roberts, what the group wants is to have "the whole English curriculum revised. They claim that all the stories are too depressing, too smutty."

Question fee

LINDENHURST—Lindenhurst Mayor Robert Ratch wants to take a closer look at Lake Villa's recently adopted impact fee ordinance regarding the Lake Villa Library District. Before considering the adoption a similar rule, Ratch says that he wants to make certain that the ordinance complies with state statutes.

Full-time mayor

FOX LAKE—Trustee Kenneth Hamsher, a senior member of the village council, has called for institution of a full-time mayor at a salary of $45,000 per year with an auto furnished. "Fox Lake won't progress without a full-time mayor," Hamsher declared. At the same time, he urged that the village hall be remodeled to bring all departments under one roof.

Police claim more local funds needed to fight crime

Federal funds "go to the state but not to the police who are on the front line every day," Ernest Fisher, North Chicago police chief, said on the US Cable program called "Issues."

He said that the municipalities need more financial help from Washington. In response to a question from Richard Strong, reporter for WKRS radio, about whether help from the "city fathers is adequate to do the job," Fisher said that his city does as much as it can with the resources it has.

The chief noted that the city does not have a lot of resources but later Michael Waller, state's attorney for Lake County, commented on a question asked by Robert Enstad, Chicago Tribune reporter, that even the affluent communities are shy of money to fight crime.

Drugs were said to be the number one crime problem as it also creates other kinds of crime by people seeking money for drugs.

The Issues program moderated by Diane Schepis of US Cable, appears at 3:30 p.m. every Wednesday and at 6:30 p.m. every Friday during the month of March on the Star Channel of US Cable, Channel 3.

Enstad commented in asking a question about juvenile court if the young people in its system have a feeling nothing will happen to them so that they can continue doing what got them into trouble.

Waller said that he thinks we will see changes. He indicated that the facilities are not yet in place to help this court deter juvenile crime. More impact is needed from the juvenile court it was indicated.

Out of the Issues program came other information such as:

- Young people are not in drugs as much as in the past.

- That crimes such as burglary are down and this is a crime sometime committed by serial burglars to obtain funds for the purchase of drugs.

- Fisher said in response to questions from Enstad that about 15 percent of individual burglaries are solved by an arrest but one arrest can account for solving many more burglaries.

- That stiffer penalties are keeping some young people out of drug crimes.

- That sexual assault, especially of children, and robberies are on the increase in Lake County. The child sexual assault problem exists in all communities.

- That the Lake County location between Chicago and Milwaukee makes it more likely to have transient crime.

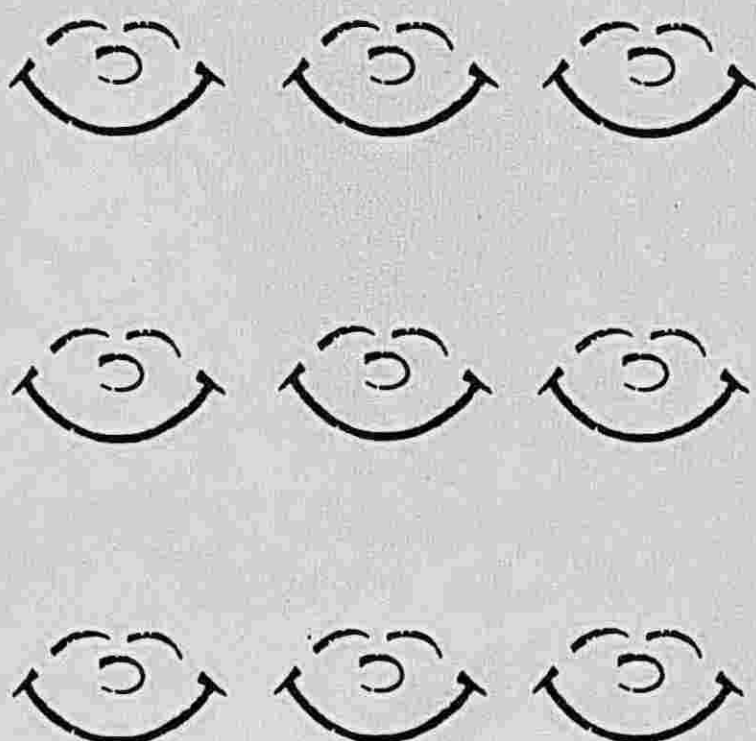

- That the different police organizations in the county work together and that every county has its own particular set of problems.

- That Chief Fisher believes positive publicity about North Chicago instead of much of the reporting about it being on its crime would be helpful in fighting crime in the city.

Wilton—police hearings may cost village $30,000

by MARY SULLIVAN
Lakeland Newspapers

The first of three rounds of disciplinary hearings against employees of the Antioch Police Department is underway.

Antioch Mayor Robert Wilton estimates that the process before the village's police and fire commission could add up to as much as a $30,000 price-tag for taxpayers.

"I can see us spending a lot of money," he said, "before this whole thing is over there may be $20,000 to $30,000 in attorneys' fees."

According to Wilton, the commission was formed about 18 months ago, in an effort to shift the responsibility of police and fire disciplinary hearings away from the village board of trustees.

Disciplinary action has been brought forth by Police Chief Chuck Miller, against two police officers and one dispatcher. The matters are scheduled to be heard before the police and fire commission, commencing March 14.

Wilton bases his estimation of the cost on a previous hearing involving one

'I can see us spending a lot of money. Before this whole thing is over there may be $20,000 to $30,000 in attorneys' fees.'—Antioch Mayor Robert Wilton.

officer, which generated $8,000 in fees borne by the village.

Comprised of Chairwoman Mary Lou Eckert, and commissioners Ted Axton and Bruce Ahlquist, the three-member commission was appointed by the mayor.

Appointments were made, said Wilton, based upon a list of names which he encouraged board members and the chief to submit. Of those names, commissioners were appointed from a list compiled by the chief, from a list compiled by a village trustee and one from the mayor's list.

The new high school

The Antioch Community High School Board of Education has selected a preliminary site plan for the proposed construction of a new facility at Polley Field. The plan provides for a student enrollment of 2,400. Classrooms are slated for the first and second floors for all academic areas. Also included are lab space, vocational/technical education facilities, an auditorium, cafeteria, library, some physical education and athletic areas, fine arts and a swimming pool.

Village welcomes ideas for centennial celebration

A call is going out to all the clubs, organizations and schools in Antioch to attend an "idea night" for the village's centennial celebration, Thursday, March 21 at 7 p.m. at the Antioch Township Hall.

Although the village dates back to around 1940, it was not incorporated until February, 1892. A year-long celebration is being planned to honor the village's 100th birthday, with special emphasis on nine days from June 27 through July 5.

Among the events already planned is a giant parade on Saturday, June 27. In addition, the Lakes Region Historical Society will be holding an open house on that date. The old grade school building which houses the society is also 100 years old. Kicking off the celebration is a gala dinner dance sponsored by the Antioch Women's Club and planned for February.

Bill Brook and Linda Pedersen are co-chairpersons of the Centennial Committee which includes Vicki Axton, Aileen Biel, Jim Fields, Dorothy Larson, Tim Osmond and Preston Reckers.

The committee has asked the Lakes Region Historical Society to prepare and publish a centennial booklet recording the first 100 years of Antioch's history. Barbara Christensen, Lucille Kuechenmeister and Clara Haling are forming a committee to work on the project.

Tap-on fees may impact proposed high school

The Village of Lake Villa and the developer of the Painted Lakes subdivision are negotiating for recapture fees for the development.

The fee structure will impact Antioch High School Dist. 117 in the event that a new high school facility is constructed and the facility taps into the Lake Villa sewer system.

According to Lake Villa Mayor Joyce Frayer, a proposal is being reviewed by the Lake Villa Village Board of Trustees for tap-on fees through the property. Initial estimates from the engineering firm of Applied Technologies suggest a fee of $300 for Clarion development and another $600 to $1,000 for the village.

In addition to established rates for tap-on into the Fox Lake Wastewater Treatment Facility of $100 and $300 for Lake County's share, the total could range from $2,200 to $2,600.

According to Antioch Community High School Supt. Gary Allen, should the April 2 referendum for the new school be approved, the district may stand to save as much as $500,000 by hooking into Lake Villa's sewer system rather than that of Lindenhurst. He attributes this to a shorter distance between the two points.

However, the entire issue rests not only with the result of the referendum, but with Lake County Board action on the provision of sewer service to the Village of Lake Villa.

Frayer says she is hopeful that the board will reach a decision about extending sewer service from the Fox Lake treatment facility to the village at the April 9 board meeting.

The board is holding action on the matter pending completion of a study by the Village of Gurnee for its own extension into the county system.

Funding for the Lake Villa extension has been secured through an annexation agreement with Clarion and grants from the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency. In ruling that the village's existing sewer system was not in compliance with code, funding for 70 percent of the cost of the project was granted through the IEPA.

Through the annexation agreement, the developer has agreed to pay $700,000 for the sewer project which will service the residential subdivision located adjacent to Polley Field, the proposed site of the new high school.

The Lake Villa village attorney has taken the proposed recapture fee structure under review.

Man Easter bonnets

The Antioch Easter Parade is scheduled for Saturday, March 30, at 10 a.m. Naturally the Easter Bunny will arrive in the parade and he will stop at the Antioch Lower Grade School's baseball field to help conduct the candy hunt for the little ones. The candy hunt will be held at the conclusion of the parade. If you would like to participate in this year's Easter Parade, please contact Theresa Kovach at (708)395-2160. Prior to the parade, the Easter Bunny will be at the Rotary Park on Main St., next to Bran's Nuts, on March 14 and 15, from 3 until 7 p.m. and on March 16 and 17 from 11 a.m. until 4 p.m. The kids can chat with the bunny, get their pictures taken, and enjoy some candy treats. So, people, man those bonnets and come to the parade, better yet, think of some special way to participate in the parade this year in order to make it an extra special "Hometown" event!!

Take care

On the heels of that happy parade reminder, I would like to extend get well/speedy recovery wishes to Lorrie Christopolus. I've been told your surgery went well and you are now home recuperating, so, don't rush it, sit around and let Michael wait on you a bit and you will be back to your old routines soon.

P.T.O. meeting

There was a good turn out to the Grass Lake School March P.T.O. meeting. Girl Scout Troop #1134 opened the meeting with the flag ceremony. Discussion was held concerning the Annual Fun Fair, Flag Pole Purchase, 1991-92 P.T.O. Positions, and School Supply Packages. Reports were given by the Market Day, Yearbook, and Dinner Dance chairpeople and a decision was made to put the purchase of sports uniforms to ballot and the areas of need will be determined by the time of voting.

Join in

Well, prom goes, how many of you are planning to participate in the ACHS post-prom activities planned by the junior class in cooperation with the A.L.L. Parent Network Group? The prom proper is scheduled for May 3 and the post-prom activity busses will be leaving from the high school at 12:30 a.m. Post-prom participants will be bussed to the Lake Geneva Health, Fitness and Racquet Center, located at the Americana Resort, for an all night adventure of fun. Tennis, racquetball, walleyball, swimming, whirlpool, suana, nautilus equipment, good food, video movies, and dancing to the music of a deejay are on the round-the-clock fun schedule. Throughout the evening raffles will be conducted and the prizes being offered are fantastic. I understand that some of the prizes will be on display at the school along with a list of all of the other raffle items. From what I've been hearing, this post-prom evening will make prom night even more memorable. You will get two special memories rolled into one, first the magic of the prom and then all of the extra great fun activities afterwards. Keep your eyes and ears open at school in order to discover how to participate in the post-prom activities.

Spelling Bee winners

The fourth through eighth grade students at Grass Lake

and Lotus schools recently participated in individual school spelling bees sponsored by the Scripps Howard Newspaper and the Chicago Tribune. As the first round of the contest, students at both schools participate in classroom competitions, then approximately 15-20 students vied for the individual school first and second place titles. The spelling champs at Grass Lake School were Daniel Jorudd, first place position, and Justin Bahrs, first runner up. John Dunlavy came in first at Lotus School and Ian McDowell took the first runner up position. The winners from both of the districts went on to compete in the spelling sectional held on March 12 at Big Hollow School.

Goals for office: restore productivity to the board; closer supervision of future development; explore improvements at post office (parking, traffic); enhance Antioch's image to promote new business; and educate and encourage a recycling program.

'Any new industry should make use of existing lands and properties in Antioch's industrial area rather than expand into our open spaces.'

"One of my best qualifications is that I am an average citizen who is concerned with the well-being of the community. Like most of the residents, I have no affiliation to the village establishment and am tired of seeing the village in a stagnant mode," he said.

Breaking away from this mode, he says, can be accomplished through the election of trustees "who have only the welfare of the community in mind." He opined that some members of the present board for making decisions based according to allegiances and without considering the welfare of the community.

Calling Antioch "fortunate" to have some industry to help manage growth, he says that the village will need to attract additional industry similar to that currently in operation, to offset the additional tax burden from residential growth.

"Any new industry should make use of existing lands and properties in Antioch's industrial area rather than expand into our open spaces," he said.

Since graduating from college in 1975 with a degree in electronic engineering, he has worked in the computer industry for various companies. For the past six years, he has been employed as the sales manager for a computer company in Northbrook.

An Antioch resident for about 11 years, he and his wife, Lori, have three daughters, Stefanie, 9; Rachel, 5; and Marissa, 8 months.

Goals for office: To prepare Antioch for the '90s; to have an open phone line to the voters; to make more people aware of the affairs of the community; to put the "trust" back into trustee.

EDWARD KOZIOROWSKI

'Being a trustee for the past two years, I am aware of the current and future growth and needs of Antioch.'

He is a member of the environmental, zoning review, public safety and Antioch School District 34 drug advisory committees. Additionally, he is a member of the Antioch Township Property Owners Assoc. and a former member of the landfill committee which assisted in closing the landfill.

"Being a trustee for the past two years, I am aware of the current and future growth and needs of Antioch," he said.

Citing concerns over the environment and development of the village as strong points of the current village board, Koziorowski adds that the "constant bickering" is the greatest weakness, taking "valuable time away from matters of greater importance."

A resolution to this unrest, he says, could be achieved "if all trustees are open minded and base their decisions on facts presented."

In response to growth in the area and its impact on schools, he says that he authored a plan, now in effect, to restructure and increase impact fees on new developments. Efficient management of growth, he says, will be aided through the village's comprehensive plan.

"However, the real achievement will be if the village abides by its own plan," he said.

A Vietnam veteran, he has a college degree in economics. He is employed as a manager of corporate transportation/distribution responsible for a annual transportation/distribution budget of $32 million.

A resident of Antioch since 1978, he and his wife, Peggy have two children, Robert and Pam.

Goals for office: a professional village government; to commence curb-side recycling; continued emphasis against high density housing (apartments); Metra Rail service to Chicago; continued concern for the environment; more village services; revitalize Antioch's business district; more activities for Antioch's youth.

DOROTHY A. LARSON
(UNITY PARTY)

'I've lived in the area all my life and, therefore, have a desire to see Antioch continue to grow in a positive way.'

A lifelong Antioch resident, she says, she has always been involved in community activities on a political and personal level.

"I've lived in the area all my life and, therefore, have a desire to see Antioch

Students offer sweet support

Antioch Community High School students remembered former students who served in Operation Desert Storm with a taste of home.

For the last three weeks, students in the business and home economics departments have been participating in Operation Desert Sweet. Over 100 envelopes containing sweets and treats, were sent to the Persian Gulf during the war. The students also enclosed letters in each care packages.

Patriotism in style

Being patriotic is in style again. That is one of the positive outcomes of war in the Persian Gulf. Americans even are buying American-built cars again.

Besides the rebirth of patriotism, there is new respect for men and women in uniform. That is good. Victory in the Middle East has solidified the U.S. position as the world's only true super power. As the realization of our status sinks in, the responsibilities that go with world-wide leadership become awesome.

President Bush, at an almost historic high in popularity, did a masterful job in his speech welcoming home the troops. He reaffirmed the high moral tone of the U.S. involvement, put the victory into perspective and focused on our national pride. In building a coalition of cooperation in the Arab world, President Bush has established the basis for bringing about peace in a troubled part of the world and affixing a new, lesser role for Israel.

Just as the unstinting support of Americans unquestionably provided the vital unpinning for high morale of our fighting forces, Americans in a like manner must demand a higher level of conduct from our representatives in Congress. If there is to be success in reviving the economy, bringing about bank reform, clearing up the S&L mess, reducing the deficit and winning the war against drugs, Americans can't condone politics as usual.

Blind partisanship on the homefront hasn't resolved the problems facing our nation. What we need is a united stand on domestic issues just like we had on fighting the war.

When boom goes pop

Deerfield may be the envy of practically every one of its sister villages in Lake County. The attractive North Shore community is practically down to its last development.

While communities like Gurnee, Grayslake, Libertyville, Mundelein and Vernon Hills are being run over in the stampede of builders and developers, a 73-unit townhome project may be the last of its kind because Deerfield is 97 percent saturated with no room to boom. Building Supv. Clint Case described future "booms" as being limited to a few pops here and there.

The practical side of the end of an era is that home values in land-locked Deerfield are continuing to appreciate. Pro-growth officials can take solace in the knowledge that real estate taxes haven't peaked even if development has.

Humiliation undeserving

Editor:

In view of their potential threat to public health, I would seriously question the advisability of frequenting any of those restaurants or taverns whose owners complain of the high standards imposed for their operations by the Environmental Health Division of Lake County.

Fortunately such complainers at the recent county board hearing were few in number relative to the total number of food and drink dispensers in Lake County. The record of the Environmental Health Div. in the prevention of disease has been truly outstanding and its staff deserves gratitude instead of the public humiliation to which it is being subjected because of the uncompromising performance of its duty to protect the public health.

Can't fathom trashing

Editor:

My family woke up one morning to find our front yard trashed with someone's garbage, papers shoved up the tailpipes of our cars, obscenity written on the car window and the political sign for the Unity Party ruined.

Is it because of our political choice or because my husband is the police chief?

Can someone please explain to me why anyone should have this done to them? That same night many political signs for the Unity Party were damaged; other political signs were left untouched. Why?

Do you have to sneak around in the middle of the night to get your point across? Why not stand up, give us your name and voice your opinion? If it's so important, bring it out in the light of day. I'm not afraid to give you my name.

Editor:

Residents of the town of Volo in western Lake County, were disappointed at the judge's decision on their petition. They had hoped to have it placed on the April ballot for the residents to vote on incorporation.

This has been a setback but they believe the one point the judge was not comfortable with can be appealed and resubmitted.

Madness time prevails; isn't it wonderful?

by BILL SCHROEDER

Call it March Madness or whatever. If you live in Illinois and enjoy basketball, that period between the serious blasts of winter and the genuine warmth of spring isn't all bad. In fact, it's wonderful.

Especially if you're a follower of the Libertyville Wildcats, who are making their first trip ever downstate as a member of the Elite Eight, Lake County's first tournament team in a decade since Antioch made it to Champaign.

If you're an alum of Northern Illinois University or among the DePaul faithful, you're basking in the limelight of a couple of NCAA teams from the Prairie State.

Even with the University of Illinois banished from post-season play, March isn't all bad this year now that there's evidence of gumption in round ball ranks to stand up to basketball's biggest bully of all time, Bobby Knight. Certainly, it's appropriate that a fighting Illini (lower case f intentional), Coach Lou Henson of the Orange and Blue, was ready to duke it out with the General.

Getting back to those Libertyville Wildcats, this alum is tickled that their victim in gaining Elite Eight ranks was New Trier, the dreaded Trevians and over the years one of the best tournament teams in the state. In the long ago of World War II, Libertyville had a dandy basketball team with downstate aspirations and capabilities that was derailed on its homecourt by a so-so New Trier team. For the life of me, I can't remember the stalwarts in Orange and Black who fell victim to New Trier's tourney jinx. But I'll never forget the North Shore runt who broke our hearts, Frankie Carroll, a pint-sized guard who shot the lights out with what would be three pointers today.

That was nearly 50 years ago. Revenge always is sweet--if you live along enough.

time for the benefit of the community. You and I both know that there are thousands of people out there who do not lift a finger when it comes to volunteer work. They will never be the subject of a law suit because they never got involved.

Because of your efforts over the years, you have sent special children to Camp New Hope, provided playground equipment for the kids in our neighborhoods, made countless donations to worthy causes, provided leadership skills to many young people joining your organization, and provided community support when Brett was sick. These are only a few of the numerous things you have done. It probably is easy to toss in the towel now that things look bleak. But as one member of the community who knows what great work you do, please do not give up. Stay the course and the good work you have accomplished will win out. Your community is behind you.

New schools needed

Editor:

On April 2 the voters of Lake Zurich, Hawthorn Woods, and the surrounding areas will have an opportunity to help their children and their community. A yes vote for the Dist. 95 school referendum will provide much needed funds for a new elementary school and junior high school. These facilities are critical to accommodate the rapid and continuing growth in school enrollment. There are only a few really important questions that should be addressed when considering this vote.

Do we need these new schools? Well, of course we do. A short drive around the area provides ample evidence of the community's rapid and continuing growth. Every area of the community; north, south, east and west has new and expanding housing developments.

Will it cost the citizens more money? Yes it will. Nothing of value comes for free. But it's an imminently reasonable amount to pay for quality facilities for our children. If your home has a market value of $200,000, you'll add less than $10 a month to your current property tax bill.

Is this the right time to build these facilities? Yes, it is our good fortune that interest rates are now at or near their lowest levels in years. The school district can issue bonds now for the building funds and save a significant interest expense when compared to past, and possibly future borrowing costs.

In addition to all this, there is one more reason to vote yes for the referendum. It will make you feel good to do something positive and constructive for your children and your community.

Richard Galloway
Hawthorn Woods

Incorrect party name

Editor:

With the close of the war in the Gulf, and the opening of the spring municipal election season, the Antioch landscape has again been plastered with the signs and symbols of political ambition. Thanks to the ever destructive tendencies of teens and pre-teens, the signs don't stay up long, but they are soon replaced.

This time there is something oxymoronic in the chosen symbology. Mabel Lou Weber and Don Amundsen, who have labored long and hard against Bob Wilton in the ongoing battle over the police chief brouhaha have chosen to label themselves as the "Unity Party." What are they in unity with?

Surely they must know that their actions have led to a major rift which resulted in news articles as far flung as the Washington Post, warning our loyal citizenry of the grisly prospect of "blood in the streets." I can appreciate the

TOUGH CAMPAIGN—"It was a hard campaign, it was a good campaign," said Fred Bigham of The Great Island Lake Trustee Race that all but ended last week.

That happened in early March when a judge threw incumbent Trustee Steve Stiller off the April ballot for improperly filing his nominating petition.

This leaves three candidates for three vacancies.

"Project completed on target, under budget, ahead of schedule," Bigham said afterwards.

LOT OF C... Remark overheard in the County Board assembly room came from the mouth of Dist. 4 representative Charlotte Kiesgen of Fox Lake. She is chairman of the Law and Judiciary Committee.

"Now that I'm a committee chairman I suppose I have to read all the crap they put in my locker," she said of her mail and in-house correspondence.

Maybe that's why she never held a chairmanship before.

PERSECUTION POLITICS—Former County Board member Chairman Norman Geary may have had his day in the limelight with a tribute at the Brae Loch Country Club earlier this month.

But he is still in store for some headlines.

The Avon Twp. board is debating whether to sue Geary for $12,700 he received between 1978 and 1989 for serving as township trustee at the same time he was Avon Twp. supervisor. Damages being sought make the total $15,000.

In January a McHenry County judge issued a summary judgment that Geary illegally collected two salaries. Geary's attorney said it was just one judge's opinion.

Atty. Rudy Magna, who represents the township, said a judgment is as good as a formal ruling. "I feel any other judge will rule consistently with this one," he said about taking the matter all the way. He's just waiting for the green light from Avon Twp.

Why persecute a man who once was one of the biggest political figures in Lake County? Politics.

Geary said it is because, years ago, he torpedoed Magna's chances to become an assistant Lake County state's attorney.

RUBBER STAMP—One of the candidates for village trustee in Gurnee this spring in Mark Ratfelders. He has an uphill battle. A political newcomer, he faces two incumbents and a member of the Plan Commission.

Ratfelders has already shaken things up. He paid for the cost of copying all minutes of the 1990 village board meetings.

Then he counted all the votes taken last year—540 of them. Multiplying this times six trustees, he came up with approximately 3,000 votes cast. Of those only four were "nay." Three were by the same trustee, who is not running this time.

"Is that a rubber stamp board or not?" Ratfelders asked.

If elected, he promises the status quo will change.

He's already started doing that. At a March 12 County Board meeting Ratfelders presented a letter asking for a delay in authorizing further extensions of the county sewer system in Gurnee. He wants odor corrections made at the North Shore Sanitary District's Gurnee treatment plant.

The letter went on to quote Gurnee Mayor Richard Welton: "You can smell it all over town. It depends on which way the wind is blowing." He said the mayor has admitted the problem for 10 years.

As part of his election campaign Ratfelders will ask residents to keep odor tracking logs. Pinpointed will be the time, wind direction and nature of the offensive odors. The logs will be given to the sanitary district.

Can this be called raising a big stink?

Costly empire building

Editor:

I have been trying to justify the Gavin School 32.66 percent increase in property taxes, and unable to get a clear explanation from Richard Woods, school board president and Michael Maloney, superintendent. Since neither is able to show clear need in specific areas, it appears that we have a school coalition of "empire builder."

When asked, "what was being done by administrators and board to control spiraling costs and reduce unnecessary expenses" to answer was nothing is being done. Unfortunately, taxing districts seldom think in terms of cutting unnecessary programs or expense; they are not accustomed to tightening-the-purse-strings, since additional monies are available through higher taxes.

Both Fox Lake and Round Lake have excellent library systems, with everything that could possibly be needed by elementary students. Yet, Gavin chooses to have three libraries, one in each school building, and each library equipped with computers. Forget the fact that computers have typewriter keyboards and that typing isn't even offered students until high school. Obviously, the computers can only be used as toys for the kids to play with. Then consider expensive computers for kindergarten through third grades. These are the grade when children should be learning to read and write, add and subtract, and learning to use their own brains. Why are taxpayers expected to pay for nonsense computers, and redundant library services when our taxes are already paying for excellent libraries? This is "empire building" and a disgusting display of unnecessary spending at taxpayer expense.

The public expects an elementary school to teach kindergarten through eighth grade students. The public does not expect that three and four-year-old children will be included in this program, yet Gavin Dist. is promoting its pre-kindergarten classes. The school actually advertises and solicits for enrollees to justify a "program" that doesn't belong in the elementary school. These babies should be home with their mothers, and Gavin should not be providing baby-sitting services at taxpayer expense.

Lands sportsmanship

Editor:

Prior to the 1989 Lindenhurst village election, there was an excess of negative campaigning, mud slinging, and character assassination which created a rift in our village and left a bad taste in the mouths of many resident toward village government.

What a difference it has been during this recent campaign. Candidates have been addressing issues and qualifications, not personalities. Congratulations to both the Lindenhurst Citizen's Party and the Grass Roots Party. Let's be sure that it continues this way right down to the wire. We certainly don't need any derisive last minute cartoons or other degrading materials to turn off the voters again. It would be a shame indeed, to see either party resort to such demeaning tactics as this election period draws to a close.

Bud Ellis
Lindenhurst

Voters input missing

Editor:

The main topic of the April 2 election is taxes. People want to be certain that the money being levied is necessary and efficiently spent. And yet at the village's first budget meeting, only two property owners, both candidates for trustee, one reporter, and a representative for the senior citizens was on hand to learn about the first stages of budgeting and the expected expenditures of the village.

Where were the concerned property owners and the other candidates running for office? If we taxpayers don't take part in the budget process, learn the system, voice our opinions and question expenditures, what right do we have to come back during levy time and be dissatisfied with how our money is being spent? Now is the time to get involved, not after the totals have been allocated and the "horse is out of the barn." We don't want to start debating an issue after the fact, as we did with Adler pool.

While the papers printed the meeting would be held March 6, maybe the general public was not truly aware of its importance. But elected they will have to establish the levy to cover the budget. I do not think it is wise to wait until elected to learn what is happening in our village. I think each candidate has a responsibility to the voters to be fully informed and working for the voters' best interest. The voters and property owners should be a part of the system, but it is definitely important that the candidates who will possibly represent them in attendance.

The next budget meeting is Saturday, March 16 from 8 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. I hope more property owners will be present. I also hope Bill Madole (a current trustee), Patricia Golden and I will not be the only candidates in attendance. Everyone needs to come, to learn and to question. It is our village, and we need to be part of the decision making process. I hope to see each and everyone of your there.

Sallie Hamm
Libertyville

Board of review changes

Makeup of the Lake County Board of Review could change again.

An examination to determine a list of eligible candidates will be held Thursday, March 21. It will be conducted by the Dept. of Revenue starting at 9 a.m. in the 10th floor County Board room of the courthouse in Waukegan.

To take the exam and be eligible for appointment a person must be qualified by experience and training in the field of property tax appraisal.

No matter who is on the list, the County Board chairman will make the appointment.

Of three members on the board, two have terms expiring this year. They are Millicent Berliant, a Deerfield Democrat, and Edward Guerout, a Round Lake Republican. Austin Douglas of Lake Bluff is the other Republican member of the board, which must include members of both political parties.

Robert Depke, County Board chairman, could choose to reappoint the current members. The appointments or reappointments occur every two years. Two years ago Bernard Vitek of Lindenhurst, a long-time member of the board, was not reappointed by then County Board Chairman Norman Geary. Instead, Geary appointed Guerout. It is possible that Depke, who dislikes Geary, will choose to make a change.

Even if those persons who do take the test are not appointed they can qualify for temporary appointments. They are called in to help the Board of Review resolve tax objections. This year there are more than 33,000, which is almost a record. The temporaries help the three-member board complete its work in a timely fashion.

Eligibility following the exam is good for two years.

Youth Conservation Corps receives corporate funding

Andrea S. Moore, President of the Lake County Forest Preserve District, announced that the District's Youth Conservation Corps Program has received a grant of $3,000.00 from Tenneco Automotive Corporation. These funds will be used for salaries to provide summer jobs for Lake County Youth between the ages of 16 through 18. The thirty youth selected to work in the program will be involved in restoration and development projects throughout the County forest preserves.

The lottery to select workers for this year's program will be held on Saturday, May 11 at 9 a.m. at District Headquarters. Youth interested in applying for the lottery drawing should contact the District's personnel office by calling (708)367-6640 for applications.

Farm Bureau sponsors educational expo

The Lake County Farm Bureau will sponsor an agricultural expo entitled "Farmers and the Environment" on March 20, 21 and 22 at the Lake County Fairgrounds. Approximately 2,300 Lake County students will view exhibits revolving around the theme. There will be three groups each day at 9 a.m., 10:40 a.m. and 12:20 p.m.

This expo presents an opportunity for urban children to actually see what farmers do and that they really are environmentalists.

For more information, please contact Donna Freitag at (708)223-6506.

Student to trustee, Gravenhorst roots for Illini

By CLAUDIA M. LENART
Lakeland Newspapers

In the early '50s, Susan Loving was active in the festive aspects of college life as social chairman of the University of Illinois Panhellenic Council. Her goal to be an English teacher, the young woman never dreamed that she would eventually play a role in running the university as a trustee and have an impact on university issues across the state.

"I never imagined it," Susan Loving Gravenhorst reminisced. "I do remember thinking that the trustees were quite removed from the students. No one ever saw them. No one ever knew them."

One of Gravenhorst's goals when she first was elected trustee in 1984 was to improve relations between trustees and students. As chair of the board's Student Welfare and Activities Committee for four years, Gravenhorst, invited students from all aspects of university life to attend luncheons and to make presentations at board meetings. "Listening to them was encouraging," said Gravenhorst who added that keeping the lines of communication open is an ongoing process.

Also in an effort to keep visible, Gravenhorst regularly attends campus events throughout the state "The activity is what you want to make of it. There are so many important events. I've really availed myself." Gravenhorst and her family enjoy going to Illini games and she admits that 50-yard line seats are a definite perk in the unpaid position.

Attending athletic events and ceremonial activities could be considered the lighter part of the responsibilities of a university trustee. On the heavier side are the fiscal responsibilities and the numerous decisions to be made, some which have attracted much attention and controversy.

The latest controversy the University of Illinois Board of Trustees was embroiled in was a test of power over who should be appointed as chancellor at the University of Illinois at Chicago. Mayor Richard J. Daley and former Gov. James Thompson were pushing for the appointment of Paula Wolff who was deemed unqualified by the search committee. Gravenhorst, along with what seemed to be a majority of the nine trustees, felt that appointing Wolff was bypassing the established university procedures.

"It's most unusual for politics to come in to this. We have to be elected politically, but beyond that serving as a trustee is not a political situation," said Gravenhorst, who has been active in Republican politics for more than 20 years. "A university campus is no place for patronage," she said.

Wolff withdrew from competition for chancellor on Tuesday and James Stukel, interim chancellor, was expected to receive the appointment.

College athletics hasn't been all fun and games either over the years at U of I. After well-publicized charges of recruiting violations in football and basketball, Gravenhorst was one of the trustees who pushed for a reorganization of the athletic department.

"The trustees could not tolerate the situation any longer. It was an embarrassment," Gravenhorst reflected. "I suppose it may seem 'Pollyannaish,' but I really believe students are there for an education first and athletics second." She noted that the reorganization has resulted in a much higher rate of graduation among college athletes.

Another controversial situation Gravenhorst recalled being involved in regarded divestment of university interests in South Africa. Although divestment finally passed the board in '87, Gravenhorst was one of those who voted against divestment. "One of the major responsibilities for a trustee is fiscal...I did not think it was fiscally responsible," she explained. Gravenhorst added that the university's financial situation has been adversely affected by the divestment.

Gravenhorst who serves as chairman of the Agriculture Committee is especially concerned about fiscal cutbacks which may lead to the closing of some of the University of Illinois Extension branches. "Most people don't know that Cook (County) is the top extension," she said.

'A university campus is no place for patronage,'— Susan Gravenhorst, referring to the controversy over appointment of a chancellor at UIC.

As a senior trustee, Gravenhorst can be acknowledged for a number of accomplishments, but one of those that she is most pleased with was her role in pushing for new dormitories and a commons area at the Chicago campus in an effort to raise school unity. "It has made all the difference. The dormitories are a good experience. There's such a mix of students," she said.

Gravenhorst, a native of Effingham, started dating her husband Albert D. Gravenhorst, also of Effingham, while attending the University of Illinois. The two made Lake Forest their home 28 years ago. As a fellow alumni, Albert Gravenhorst has been supportive of her and has helped her campaign. With nearly 6 years left to her term, it's too early to say whether she'll run again.

"At one time trustees had to put forth very little effort to run for office. Now it requires a tremendous amount of effort. You can't rest on your laurels. You have to raise a lot of money," said Gravenhorst.

Once elected as a trustee, even more effort is required with stacks of reading materials, two meetings per month and, of course, the numerous university events. Gravenhorst said it takes about two years just to get adjusted. But judging from the exuberance she exhibits when speaking of the university, it's obvious that Gravenhorst believes it's worth the effort. "How can you do anything more worthwhile than help your state university, especially when your an alumni?" she asks.

Who says there are no more modern day pioneers? That is exactly what Linda Rix was when she began an after school program in Lake County in the late 1970s. Since then the program has expanded into a venture in which five school districts participate.

In 1972 Linda left her position as a teacher to become the founder of Red Balloon Preschool in Lake Villa. "Eventually as the preschoolers got older I noticed that there was a void in services for these children before and after school," says Linda. "Our facility was available in the afternoons, so I thought about offering educational and recreational programs for school-age children."

However, a collaborative effort with the school district was necessary to implement the program called the Afterschool Club. "I worked closely with Dr. Peter Palumbi, superintendent of the Lake Villa school district to develop the service to what it is today," recalls Linda.

"A Major concern of most school districts is the whereabouts of the children when school is dismissed. Coordinating transportation and other arrangements becomes a real problem in logistics and liability when one considers the hundreds and thousands of children involved. I realized that it would be beneficial for the children to be able to remain in the school instead of traveling to the preschool. Also, it got to the point where Red coordinator for the five districts entails her meeting with the various program directors to design the activities, and hiring and planning training sessions for the childcare personnel. The Afterschool Clubs operate from 6 a.m. until school starts, and from dismissal until 6 p.m. The Clubs are also available all day during school breaks and for the duration of the summer break.

Linda works under the wings of the individual school boards. "I function within guidelines set by each board concerning such factors as space, the number and age of the children, and the general philosophy of providing recreational activities that enhance the children's educational and social experiences," says Linda. "Programs are then designed to meet the needs of the children in each district." The Afterschool Clubs signify a changing attitude by making schools more accessible to the community, the doors aren't closed anymore after school.

Feedback on the Clubs reveal that they are accepted very well by both parents and children. The reliability and convenience of the hours is a relief for parents who can't be home, and the children enjoy the diverse and fun experiences that are available.

Anyone who is thinking about starting a program similar to the Afterschool Club should be aware of the business angles involved. "You have to be realistic about the need to project costs and revenues," advises Linda. "This is something I would have looked into more closely if I had to do it over."

Linda cites the ability to function in changing situations as an important characteristic of an entrepreneur and, "school districts in Lake County today certainly are in the midst of changing situations." She perceives her work as personally satisfying because it's fun and also fills a need for residents in the community. A businesswoman who loves her job and who helps provide an essential service in the county is what this trailblazer is made of.

Afterschool Clubs make the grade

Balloon just didn't have anymore room. Dr. Palumbi acknowledged that this type of arrangement had been the topic of meetings he had attended, and agreed that it was a good idea.

Linda devised the structure of the program while considering the potential constraints. "There were no extra classrooms available for the program, and we wanted to keep the cost affordable. The answer was to use other space in the school such as foyers, hallways, the gym, and lunchroom. This is a unique aspect of the program in that it doesn't interfere with the set-up of the classrooms."

Successful implementation of the program in Lake Villa enabled it to spread to school districts in Grayslake, Libertyville, Fox Lake, and Hawthorn in Vernon Hills. Linda's position as program

Planning to beat the recession? Do it now!

by NICK J. BROWN

What goes up must come down. The old axiom of physics is also true of business cycles. The government says that when we have no real growth or declines in the leading economic indicators for two quarters that constitutes a recession. But the realities for the individual company president, the breadwinner and the wage earner are much more dramatic and real and not a cold statistical expression.

Business cycles prove that what goes up must come down, and the question is what should you do until the economy comes back and the recession is over? That is what I want to discuss today.

Down Sales

For the company owner sales are going down, customers are stretching out delivery of previously placed orders or cancelling them all together. The backlog of orders or work is shrinking so overtime is not available for shop employees. Layoffs are the only option to declining sales, slow payments, and cancelled orders.

The banks which finance closely held companies are part of the problem. Just when working capital needs are increasing due to slow receivables the banks are tightening credit. The banks were burned by their ill advised loans to real estate and business speculators in the 80s. Those loans are coming home to roost. The belt tightening at the nations banks is falling squarely on the businessman.

It seems if you borrow billions and default a solution can be worked out such as with Donald Trump. But if the business owner is late due to a cash flow squeeze the banks go by the book and start talking about calling his loan. Where in the world was the book for the last ten years?

Family

The individual breadwinner has his work cut out for him. Speculators have driven real estate up to a point that with a reverse in the economy there is a glut of overpriced troubled properties for sale. This drives the price down and lengthens the selling time of all properties.

The recession affects the typical family in the following ways. 1. Possible layoffs from employment for one or worse, both parents. 2. Reduction or elimination of overtime wages or bonuses. 3. Reduction or revision of pensions and other employer paid benefit programs. 4. Elimination of expense reimbursements. 5. Inability to get bank loans for business expansion or personal needs. 6. Loss of capital due to investment reverses in real estate and business ventures.

Do It Now

What anti recession measures you can take now.

1. Do a detailed budget of your income and expenses so that you really know where you are. 2. Put away your credit cards and change to a cash only basis of paying expenses. This will help you live within your reduced means. 3. Cut out all unneeded expenses that do not contribute to the family's security and well being. 4. Make sure your medical insurance and disability insurance are up to date. These are two areas that can cause financial disaster today, uninsured medical bills, and uninsured loss of income due to disability. 5. Reevaluate your investments. It is very important to get cash quickly. 6. Reduce your debts and pay off all the loans you can. Especially the high interest credit card loans. The less debt you have in a business downturn, the stronger you will be.

Recessions will pass. Opportunities will present themselves. Those families and business entities that have remained strong by not over borrowing, keeping cash reserves, and spending prudently will emerge from this recession stronger than before. Proper planning is the key to reducing the pain.

Nick J. Brown, president of The Planning Group, Glenview, Illinois, a financial planning and consulting firm that counsels individuals and businesses in all 50 states. Your questions are invited by writing This Way To Wealth in care of this paper or 2203 B Lakeside Drive, Bannockburn, IL 60015.

Be prepared when tornado strikes

Tornadoes, one of nature's most furious and devastating quirks, are neither predictable or preventable; but by learning a few simple facts and taking proper preventive measures, you can keep disaster from catching you unprepared reports the Lake County Sheriffs Emergency Services and Disaster Agency.

The National Weather Service defines a tornado as a "violently rotating column of air pendant from a cumulonimbus cloud and touching the ground. What actually causes a tornado remains a mystery but key warning signs and characteristics are not. The main ingredient in nature's recipe for a tornado are: warm temperature, moist air and cold air. Warm temperatures generate moisture, moisture generates thunderstorms and thunderstorms in turn spawn tornadoes. Warm moist air must collide with cold air to begin the building process. When warm moist air is blocked by cold air it has to go somewhere, so it rises to create a storm cloud.

Illinois is geographically located at the northeast edge of the most tornado prone region of the world. The Great Plains area of the United States is ideal for tornado formation because no mountains exist between Canada and the Gulf of Mexico to obstruct the flow of warm tropical air and cold northern air.

One misconception that really needs clarification is the difference between a tornado watch and tornado warning, as issued by the National Weather Service. A tornado watch simply means that conditions are favorable for tornadoes to develop. The watch usually identifies an area about 140 miles wide by 200 miles long. A tornado warning means that a tornado has actually been sighted by a trained tornado spotter or appeared on radar. Area outdoor warning sirens will be activated at this point, signaling you to quickly take evasive action.

Tornado preparedness is equally, if not more, important than awareness. Being prepared gives you an added dimension in dealing with tornado disaster.

•BEFORE a watch has ever been issued, determine which area of your home possesses the safest shelter. Choose an area in the lowest part of the structure (i.e. basement or crawl space). Avoid direct exposure to glass windows and doors. Try to remain as far away from outward walls as possible. Once the safe zone of your house has been established, you should place your "survival kit" somewhere within. Included in this kit should be the following: a flashlight and radio—both with fresh batteries; matches, candles and a small first aid kit—sealed in a waterproof bag; and a spare set of home and car keys. Take an inventory of all your household furnishings and personal belongings. Be sure to place the inventory in a safe place, like a bank or safe deposit box; this information will be invaluable to you in settling insurance claims. Once a watch has been established you should: move the cars into the garage, pick up the yard's loose items—this will limit the amount of projectile damage, and tune into one of the following radio stations, AM 670—WMAQ, AM 1220—WKRS or FM 102.3—WXLC.

•DURING a tornado the only warning it will give you is a horrendous roar of approaching devastation. By the time you hear the roar, under fairly calm conditions, the tornado is about one mile away. Depending upon how fast the tornado is traveling, you have between one to two minutes to seek out your pre-designated safe zone, provided you're not already there. If you are in a mobile home or vehicle, leave them immediately and go to a substantial structure. If there is no shelter nearby, lie flat in the nearest ditch or culvert with your hands shielding your head.

•AFTER the danger has subsided, closely inspect your property, including automobiles, for damage. Immediately report any gas leaks or electrical damage. Secure your remaining property to protect it from further damage or theft. Notify your relatives of your safety but don't tie up the phone lines unnecessarily.

Parents should go over these simple facts and procedures with your children, emphasizing their importance. We hope you now have a greater understanding of tornadoes and apply this knowledge towards your personal safety. Hopefully we will not have to put our skills into action this spring. If you have any questions or wish to report a funnel cloud sighting call the E.S.D.A. Office at (708)680-7735.

AIDS — confusion spreading faster than disease

by GLORIA DAVIS
Lakeland Newspapers

This is the second of a three part series — AIDS — Yesterday's News, Tomorrow's Impact. The series is being done in an effort to put the AIDS epidemic back in the headlines where it belongs until a cure is discovered for victims world-wide, nationwide and specifically in Lake and Kenosha Counties

The clean-cut looking young man had just lifted his head from his desk. The dried tears were evident on his face as his boss inquired what the problem was.

He was quiet for a moment, and then with tears welling-up in his eyes he sobbed, "I'm going home to die."

The older man lifted the younger one to his feet, putting his arm around him for comfort.

Strange as it was for a youngster of 21 to talk about dying, it was stranger yet for the older man to actually put his arm around someone whom he thought to be a homosexual.

AIDS has made many people with in-born prejudices realize that whether the victim is a homosexual, a heterosexual, a drug addict, or an innocent baby born of a mother at risk, they have one thing in common, they are all hapless victims of a fatal disease.

The young man in question had come from Wisconsin to Lake County with a companion.

He was working in one of the many offices of a Lake County hospital when he found out that both he and his companion were AIDS victims.

That was in 1985. Both went back home.

The number of AIDS related cases in the United States, over one million, is dwarfed by the number of AIDS cases in Africa, one-third of the adult population in many areas.

Of course I'm pregnant. I told you I bumped into the usher at the show.

I just know that waiter's gay, I'm not eating anything here!

40 YEARS LATER — IGNORANCE STILL ABOUNDS

that the child had AIDS. Elizabeth and her seven-year-old son Jake tested positive as carriers of the HIV virus. Neither has AIDS to date. Glazer himself tests negative.

Ariel died of AIDS at the age of 10. The chances of Jake coming down with AIDS are greater than Elizabeth's say doctors.

One of the reasons Glazer himself remains disease free is that it is harder for a course; by blood contact through a transfusion with contaminated or infected blood or blood products; from a pregnant woman, who tests positive to having the HIV virus or who has AIDS, passing the disease on to her infant.

Officials add that the ONLY other virus transmission instances involve artificial insemination or organ transplants from donors that are infected with the virus.

No, other children who are in casual contact with another student who has AIDS will not catch the disease because that victim attends their school and uses the same drinking fountain or eats in the same cafeteria.

Since AIDS is transmitted through the bloodstream, health care workers and emergency aid disseminators are all taking protective precautions to prevent the fluke of contaminated blood entering their bloodstream through a cut or abrasion.

Baxter Labs in Deerfield has introduced a device that can replace 80 percent of the six billion steel hypodermic needles used annually, the Inter-Link Access System.

This system is already preventing accidental needle sticks at hundreds of hospital all over the country and in Lake and

Kenosha counties, minimizing the risk to both patients and health care workers

This revolutionary new product features a blunt plastic tip and a new type of injection site which can be used to draw blood, administer medication through intravenous tubing and withdraw drugs from vials, using steel needles just to puncture the skin for the initial IV insertion.

In the final part of this series we will look into the area programs for education, AIDS testing and treatment and we will get an update on AIDS research and the closeness of a possible cure.

AIDS Yesterday's news, tomorrow's impact

Yet legislators, famous people and just plain citizens are urging that more effort and money be put into finding a cure for this fatal disease before AIDS' deaths in the U. S., now at 100,000, triple by 1993 as predicted.

Much publicity has been given to the plight of Paul Michael Glazer, Starsky of the 1970's tv hit, "Starsky and Hutch," and his wife Elizabeth, who are spearheading the fight for more money for AIDS research.

Elizabeth, 43, found out that she had contracted the HIV virus through a blood transfusion that she had over 10 years ago, following the birth of her daughter Ariel.

It wasn't until Ariel became ill at the age of seven that investigation showed female to pass the virus on to the male sexually.

Reports are that Elizabeth passed the virus on to her daughter through breast feeding. Jake was born with the virus.

Baby A is in the nursery of an area hospital. She was born of a mother who had been living with an intravenous drug user. She left him as soon as she found out she was pregnant, but it was too late, she was already an AIDS victim.

There was a 50 percent chance that the mother would pass the dreaded disease on to her child through the bloodstream and Baby A is on the short end of those statistics.

The infant is being treated with the only known vaccine that slows the growth of the disease, AZT.

Closer to home, with the AIDS count at 3,474 in the Chicago area, expected to reach 100 before the end of the year in Lake County and at 519 in southeastern Wisconsin, emphasis is being put more and more on education.

According to "The New Medicine Show," published by Consumer Reports, "Fear and misconception about this frightening and physically devastating disease have spread faster than the fast spreading disease itself."

Despite the many newspaper and magazine articles and the reams of literature distributed, not only by the Federal Center for Disease Control, but also by hospitals and schools, many people still think that AIDS can be spread by drinking out of a glass used by an AIDS victim, by sneezes, by doorknobs, and even by the fabled "toilet seat."

So we will try one more time to relate the confirmed medical reports that claim that the AIDS virus is spread almost exclusively by three routes: by sexual inter-

Are You at Risk for HIV Infection?

HIV (human immunodeficiency virus) is the virus that causes AIDS. Most people who have HIV don't know it, because they may look and feel perfectly healthy.

There is evidence that HIV has been in the U.S. at least since 1978. You may be at increased risk of infection if you answer yes to any of the following questions.

Since 1978:	Yes	No
Have you shared needles or syringes to inject drugs or steroids?	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
If you are male, have you had sex with other males?	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
Have you had sex with someone who you believe may have been infected with HIV?	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
Have you had a sexually transmitted disease (STD)?	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
Have you received blood transfusions or blood products between 1978 & 1985?	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
Have you had sex with someone who would answer yes to any of the above questions?	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>

If you answered yes to any of the above questions, you should discuss your need for testing with a trained counselor, or call the National AIDS Hotline for information about services located in your area. ### Q. Will video games harm my children's eyes?

A. Actually, video games may help sharpen your children's vision rather than harm it but only if they are played in moderation.

Staring at a video screen for hours on end puts the eyes under great stress. That can lead to headaches, fatigue, blurring vision and, in children and teens, may contribute to nearsightedness.

Played in moderation, however, video games can help sharpen vision skills used in school, on the job and in sports. These include eye movement skills; eye-hand coordination; visual reaction time; visualization; and side vision awareness.

Optometrists don't specify how many hours a day of video game play would be considered moderate play. Instead, they recommend five minute rest breaks for every 30 minutes of play. During rest breaks, players should look at things in the distance.

Spring

Home Improvement

Spring

Give your home a spring cleaning

Take advantage of the milder weather approaching to tackle projects around the house and get a jump on spring and improve your home's appeal and resale value. With the rising cost of energy, more and more homeowners are looking for ways to make their homes more energy efficient. Here are some steps you can take to help save money year-round.

Insulate

The attic is always a great place to start your springtime clean-up. While you're up there, make sure your insulation meets new recommended levels issued by the Dept. of Energy. Adding extra insulation can help reduce the amount of energy you use to cool your home this summer and heat it next summer.

Weatherize

In many older homes that have not been weatherized, air leaks can account for up to 30 percent of a home's wasted energy. Even if you caulked and weatherstripped within the last few years, new air leaks can appear each season. Weatherizing your home now can also help reduce this summer's energy bills by helping to keep the cool air in your house. If drafty doors and windows were a problem in your home this winter, now is the best time to add weatherstripping to help prevent energy loss all year.

Plant A Tree

Trees and shrubs will make your yard more colorful, and can also help reduce energy costs if they're planted strategically. Plant deciduous trees, that that drop their leaves in the fall, in front of sunny windows, to help block summer sunlight. In the winter, sunlight will filter through the bare branches to warm your living area. Hardy, low-lying evergreens and shrubs planted close to the foundation of a house slow heat escape during the winter, and reduce heat entry during the summer.

Add Shades

Attractive window treatment add color and beauty to your home both inside and out, and also help keep sunny rooms more comfortable in any season. During warmer months, window shades or blinds drawn on sunny days help block the heat from your home. Keeping them open during the winter helps warm a chilly room. In the summer, outdoor awnings will help shade you windows and keep indoor temperatures cooler.

Lighten Up

Homeowners waste half of the electricity generated each year by lighting unoccupied rooms or squandering it on inefficient lighting sources. About 90 percent of the energy consumed by incandescent bulbs is given off as heat, not light. Replace them with fluorescent bulbs, which convert electricity to visible light up to five times more efficiently, and last as much as 20 times longer.

There's no better time than now to improve your home, especially when you can profit in the long run through energy savings.

Aluminum windows last longer

Aluminum windows will last 30 years or more with little or no maintenance. Aluminum is the strongest window framing material.

Aluminum's molecules are "locked" together into a rigid structure, unlike solidified mixtures or organic materials. Because of this, aluminum has consistent properties that do not change over time or with temperature extremes. It won't soften and warp at high summer temperatures, become brittle at low temperatures, or deteriorate under ultraviolet light from the sun.

Aluminum is anywhere from three to 43 times stiffer and stronger than other window framing materials, so it resists deformation. It has less tendency to stretch under the weight of glass, wind or the normal settling of the building, and expands and contracts the least due to changes in temperature. Also, aluminum will not absorb moisture to cause swelling, shrinking, splitting or rotting.

All of this means that precision-built aluminum frames stay square, true and tight. There is less relative movement between the frame and glass and between the frame and the wall of the building. Weather seals stay firmly in place to prevent leaks and drafts, and there is less chance of binding or sticking when the windows are opened and closed.

This inherent strength is why aluminum is the engineer's material of choice for multi-story commercial buildings; it stands to reason that it will last as long as your home.

Aluminum is an ideal finish base because it is smooth, nonporous and will not absorb moisture or rust.

Factory applied baked-enamel finishes, similar to a car's finish, will last 30 years or more, thanks to recent advances in paint chemistry.

Anodized finishes, the result of a reactive process that produces a sapphire-hard surface, are part of the metal itself.

Either type will not crack, peel, chip, flake or blister, so aluminum windows never need repainting and clean simply with ordinary soap and water.

Some energy saving ideas to save money

Energy bills can account for as much as one-third of a typical household budget. So taking a few simple steps to conserve energy can pay big dividends. Here are some energy-saving ideas from the American Gas Assn.

1. To reduce heating bills, seal air leaks around doors, windows and other openings, such as pipes or ducts, with caulking or weather stripping or by stuffing insulation in open areas that are letting in outside air.

2. Set the thermostat between 65 to 70 degrees in the winter, at least five degrees lower when sleeping, and at 58 degrees when away from home for more than a few hours. (Warmer temperatures are recommended for homes with ill or elderly people and/or infants).

During the summer, set the thermostat at 78 degrees and five degrees higher when away from home. Consider installing a "clock" thermostat that can be set to automatically control these temperature changes, according to your daily schedule.

3. Check your water heater's nameplate for the ASHRAE (American Society of Heating, Refrigerating and Air Conditioning Engineers) rating. If the rating is lower than 90, you should consider adding an insulation "blanket" to help the tank retain heat longer and reduce operating time. Be sure to install the blanket according to manufacturer's instructions. When replacing a water heater, choose a high efficiency model.

4. Set your water heater temperature at 140 degrees and install water flow restrictors in shower heads and faucets. They can cut hot water use without affecting comfort.

5. Change the filters in heating and cooling units at least twice a year. Close vents and doors in unused rooms. If pipes or ducts run through unheated areas, insulate them.

6. Use drapes, shutters, awnings, shade trees, glass with reflective film and/or solar screens to keep sunlight out in the summer and let it in during the winter.

7. Check to see if your attic and basement (or crawl space) have the recommended level of insulation for the area where you live. Remember to insulate and weatherstrip the attic and basement doors.

8. If you have a woodburning fireplace, consider installing a natural gas fireplace insert, which can save up to 57 percent in energy costs, compared with firewood. In addition, a gas fireplace insert reduces heat loss caused by the draft in a conventional fireplace.

9. Consider storm or thermal windows and doors or double-paned glass. A less expensive alternative is plastic sheeting, which can be fastened over doors and windows to retain heat or air conditioning.

10. Be sure that dishwashers, washing machines and clothes dryers are fully loaded before running. Set dishwashers to stop before the drying cycle.

When buying new appliances, compare energy efficiency ratings and annual operating costs. A slightly higher initial cost for a high efficiency appliance could pay itself back in a very short time through energy savings.

Many local natural gas utilities offer home energy audit programs and additional information on energy savings for consumers.

Gas lights up outdoors

More and more security-conscious consumers are choosing natural gas lighting for the outdoor area of their homes. Gas lights safely and attractively illuminate yards, driveways, sidewalks, pools and gardens for a very low cost.

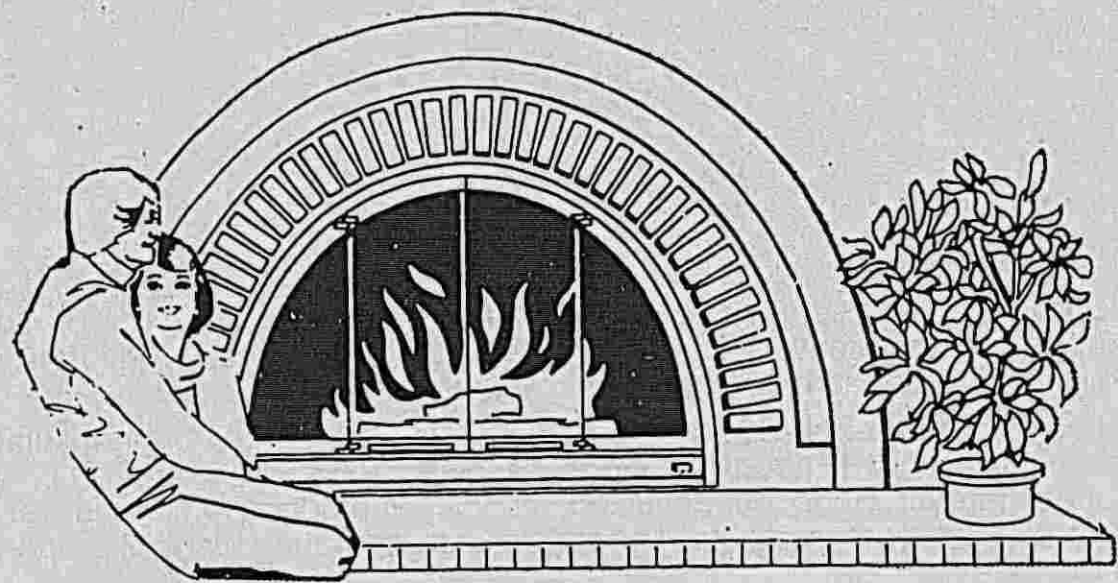

Some new models have an automatic dimmer feature that reduces illumination during the daylight hours.

Currently, five gas light manufacturers have received safety certification from the American Gas Assn. Laboratories. The A.G.A. Blue Star Certification Seal is the manufacturer's assurance that the equipment design complies with national safety standards.

Seeing and then doing necessary home repairs

Every time you pass by them you notice those nagging little projects around the house that need attention—cracks, dings, leaks and breaks.

Many of us ignore these problems because we don't really know how to repair them and don't want to pay someone else to do them. That can lead to more costly repairs later, not to mention a houseful of irritants.

Here are a few tips for do-it-yourself home repairs:

Sticky doors: First tighten the hinges. If the screws spin freely, fill the holes with carpenter's glue and wood splinters to create a new, tight fit for the screws. If this doesn't solve the problem, create a cardboard shim to go under a hinge. Trace and cut the shape of the hinge on thin cardboard. Screw the cardboard into place under the hinge, on the top hinge for doors sticking on the top, and the bottom hinge for doors sticking on the bottom. The shim may correct all or part of the problem. For more extreme cases, plane off the excess using a block plane for the top or bottom of the door and a jack plane for the side.

Leaking faucet. A rotating disk faucet often found in the kitchen is prone to leaks around the handle and under the spout. With a repair kit from a home center, you'll find a special wrench to disassemble the faucet. Then you simply lift out the cam assembly and replace the springs, seals and o-rings.

Faulty doorbell. Remove the cover. Hold your screwdriver across the electrical contact points. (Doorbells are run on low voltage so there is no danger). If the bell rings, dirty contacts are probably the problem. Clean the contacts with emery paper, replace the cover and test the doorbell.

Windows painted shut. Visit a home center to find a tool called a paint zipper. Use the tool to pry between the window and the frame to loosen the paint. The window may require some tugging to open. Once it's open, clean the track with steel wool. Coat with paraffin for easier opening and closing.

Swelling windows. Cut a piece of wood 1/16-inch wider than the window channel. Gently tap the wood in the channel moving it the full length of the channel. It will widen the channel for easier sliding.

Leaky gutters. First clean the gutters. For small holes, patch the hole with roofing cement. Cover it with sturdy canvas, roofing paper or sheet metal and with another coat of roofing cement. For larger holes, use sheet metal between the layers of roofing cement.

Cooling with natural gas

Natural gas, the preferred fuel for home heating, can also be used for cooling your home. Natural gas air conditioning systems are not only reliable, but make good sense economically.

Most electric companies experience their highest demand for electricity during the warm summer months when customers are using electric air conditioning systems. Many also charge higher rates during these peak demand periods. So, using natural gas for cooling not only saves money for the homeowner, but also reduces the need for power companies to build expensive new generating plants.

Some natural gas cooling systems work on the same, motor-driven vapor compression principle as electric systems: a refrigeration circulates in closed loop and transfers heat from the indoors to the outdoors. The electric systems use an electric compression method to transfer heat; natural gas systems use a gas-fueled motor to drive the compressor.

A natural gas burner can also be used to drive an absorption refrigeration process,

Proper brushes and tools help perfect home painting

Experts agree that for best home painting results, you should pay a little more to get a top quality paint. But it is also important to use top quality application tools, high quality brushes, rollers and other accessories, to get a job that only looks great, but will be long-lasting, too.

Here are some tips on what to buy and what to avoid:

•Since natural bristles tend to absorb water and swell, be sure to use synthetic bristle brushes to apply water-based latex. Polyester brushes are best. They will maintain the proper stiffness and keep their shape regardless of the amount of water and humidity they are exposed to.

•For the same reasons, if you are using rollers, be sure to select those that have synthetic covers when painting with a latex or water-based product.

•Natural bristle brushes or rollers are fine to use with oil-based or alkyd paints.

•Regardless of the type of brush you select, it should be a high quality product to ensure even and effortless application of the paint. Before purchasing your brushes, test them for springiness. Be sure they don't fan too much or have bristle gaps.

•A good brush is one that is well balanced, will hold a lot of paint and will apply the paint evenly. Look for brushes that have tightly packed bristles and are between 3/4 inch and one-inch thick for a standard four-inch brush.

•A five-gallon bucket with roller grid will speed up your work. Just as important, it will place a more even amount of paint on the roller and thus give better results.

•Don't discount the possibility of using spray equipment. Power washers and spray painting gear are available from most equipment rental companies. Follow manufacturers' suggestions for safe and proper use.

•If you need additional advice about brushes, accessories or top quality acrylic latex paint, ask for help at your local paint or hardware store, or decorating center.

Owners of older homes answer painting questions

Many people take great pride in owning an older home. But home ownership necessitates home maintenance. And the owners of older homes have more than their share of that.

One of the best ways to keep an older home looking fresh while accenting its character is with top quality exterior paint. Of course, paint is also the first line of defense against the harsh elements that can weather a homes' exterior.

Here are some answers to some common painting questions from the owners of older homes.

Q. What type of paint provides the most durable protection for old woodwork?

A. It depends upon the type of surface to be painted and its condition. With a sound substrate that has been properly prepared (i.e., scraped, sanded and cleaned), two coats of a top quality acrylic latex paint provide the best adhesion and, consequently, maximum durability.

However, if the old paint is chalking badly and cannot be thoroughly cleaned, then apply an oil-based primer followed by a top quality acrylic latex topcoat.

Q. Can latex paint be applied over oil-based paint?

A. Yes, today's high quality acrylic latex (water-based) paints are formulated to provide excellent adhesion to surfaces painted with oil or alkyd based paints. But if you encounter a surface with more than three or four coats of oil paint, you may want to apply an oil based topcoat. Be sure to properly prepare the surface before applying either type of paint.

Q. How can you tell whether the old paint is oil based or latex?

A. Remove a piece of the old paint with a scraper. Then place it between your fingers and apply pressure. If the paint snaps in half or breaks into pieces, it's probably oil based. If it is flexible enough to bend between your fingers, then it is most likely a latex product.

Q. What is the best way to remove oil based paint from old exterior woodwork?

A. Most professional painting contractors use a torch or heat gun to remove old oil based paint, but some prefer sand blasting. In some cases, chemical paint removers are used. Since all of these methods can be dangerous if proper safety practices aren't followed, consider using a professional painter if you are not thoroughly familiar with the proper procedures.

Q. When is it necessary to strip old paint down to bare wood before painting?

A. If the surface has more than three or four old coats of oil-based paint and you want to use an acrylic latex topcoat, then the old paint should be completely removed. You could, however, add an extra cost of oil based paint without removing the earlier coats.

If the old paint is latex or if there are only a couple of coats of oil based paint, however, you can use a quality latex paint without removing the old paint, assuming that the surface is clean and stable.

Checklist for wood furniture

Before purchasing wood furniture, consider these helpful tips:

•Uniform finish. Does the finish look the same all over?
•Careful gluing. Good glues are so strong they can outlast wood. In fine furniture, excess glue has been wiped off.

•Corner blocks (triangular pieces of wood screwed and glued to support and reinforce the corners of the frame).

•Drawers that fit snugly in the frame, open and close effortlessly, and are smooth inside.

Fans beat the heat the economical way

More and more homeowners are finding that fans can provide them with the cooling effect they seek, without resulting in overwhelming utility bills.

There are a wide variety of powered ventilators currently available. Whole house fans

Foremost among the energy-saving powered ventilators is the whole-house fan. Situated near the center of the home, the fan can be used during the summer months to draw in cooler evening air through screened windows and doors, creating a pleasant and comfortable indoor environment. The fan also produces breezes that can make the temperature seem two to eight degrees cooler than it actually is.

An effective cooling device at temperatures well into the eighties, the whole-house fan can yield substantial energy savings as it takes much of the cooling burden off the air-conditioning system, yet can be operated for as little as one-tenth of the cost of air-conditioner operation. Useful in all climates, the whole-house fan can replace the air-conditioner in some areas of the country.

The Home Ventilating Institute (HVI), a voluntary organization of manufacturers of static and powered home ventilating equipment, offers a simple method for proper selection of whole-house fans. HVI labels displayed on members' products, show the certified capacity of the fan as measured in cubic feet of air moved per minute (CFM). To determine the necessary CFM rating for a whole-house fan, multiply the interior square footage of the home (excluding garage, attic or basement) by three. In warmer, more humid climates, a larger capacity is needed, and the square footage should be multiplied by four in those areas. The resulting number is the CFM rating for the fan needed for the home.

It is important for the homeowner to provide sufficient static vents for the whole-house fan to function properly. To determine the necessary vent area, the CFM rating should be divided by 750. The resulting number will be the square feet of static vent area which must be provided.

Ceiling fans, devices which have been around since the turn of the century, have enjoyed a rebirth in popularity recently, largely because of their decorative appeal. However, the fans also offer significant cooling and energy saving benefits to homeowners.

Research has shown that ceiling fans have the ability to make room occupants feel comfortable at temperatures up to 85 degrees Fahrenheit. The ceiling fan's ability to provide cooling effects at temperatures into the mid-80s is of notable significance in terms of energy and cost savings. The fans are extremely economical to operate and can yield substantial savings when used to supplement air-conditioning.

The fans are available with short-stem assembly, allowing them to fit easily into rooms with standard eight-foot ceilings, with seven feet of clearance. The fans range in size from 36 to 52 inches across. The smaller models are designed for use in tight quarters such as hallways, small offices, stairways, dining rooms, apartments and small houses where space is at a premium. The larger fans are suited to living rooms, play rooms, large porches, basements, dens, and bedrooms.

HVI cautions consumers to be very careful in selecting a ceiling fan. The organization notes that some fans are built strictly as decorative items and are of almost no value as air-circulating devices. Consumers are urged to determine that the fan has been sturdily constructed to withstand the rigors of operation before they make their purchase.

Attic fans
During the summer months, as the sun beats down upon the roof of the house, air in the attic can become extremely hot. As the heat builds up, it can penetrate to the house below, causing discomfort or putting an added burden on a home's cooling system. Further, attic heat build-up poses a threat to insulation and to structural materials, causing serious deterioration of these items. The problem continues in the winter when water vapor produced throughout the house rises to the attic and collects there. It can penetrate insulation, seriously impairing its efficiency, and can also cause damage to other materials in the roof and attic.

The ideal way to combat both unwanted intruders is with a powered attic space ventilator. Mounted on the roof or gable wall, the ventilator removes hot or moist air, replacing it with clean, fresh air from the outside. Equipped with a thermostat, the ventilator automatically comes on whenever the attic temperature exceeds safe levels. In the winter, ventilators equipped with a humidistat activate automatically when moisture in the attic air reaches an unacceptable level.

To determine the necessary CFM rating for an attic fan, HVI recommends multiplying attic floor area by 0.7 (add 15 percent for dark roofs). The resulting number is the correct CFM rating for the fan needed to properly ventilate the attic.

For those who appreciate Second City kind of comedy, "The Smoking Remained in the Lobby Only," or "Constrains" is at Paper Alley in Chicago.

St. Pat's should mean big party-time this Saturday, with the "drinking man's" holiday falling on a weekend. So they'll be singing of smiling eyes and hoisting more than a few green brews because everyone's Irish this weekend, or if they're not, they dare not admit it.

Brass Quintet at Drake Theatre

The Chicago Brass Quintet is scheduled to appear at 8 p.m., on Friday, March 22, on stage at the Drake Theatre at Barat College in Lake Forest. Music from great American composers like George Gershwin, Leonard Bernstein and Scot Joplin will be featured. In the quintet are Ross Beacraft, Mathew Lee, Jonathan Boen, James Mattern and Robert Bauchens, not as pictured.

Mountain music comes to Adler

The wonderful music of the Polish mountains will be featured in a special concert and dance program with the Polish Highlanders at 8 p.m., Saturday, March 16 at the American Legion Hall, 715 N. Milwaukee Ave., Libertyville.

For centuries the Polish Tatra mountains have been the backbone of eastern European folk culture. Chicago's Polish Highlanders keep the rich traditions of this area alive in their performances of music and songs.

The concert will be followed by a participatory dance, which will include an explanation and demonstration of the basic steps used in Polish Highland dancing. Everyone is welcome to join in the dance or to sit and enjoy the music.

This concert is the third of the In The Tradition series presented by the David Adler Cultural Center, with support from Baxter Healthcare Corp., the National Endowment for the Arts, and by the Illinois Arts Council, a state agency.

Admission to the program is $6 for adults, $4 for center members, $3 for seniors and children five to 15, and free for children four and under. Tickets will be available at the door on a first come/first served basis. The doors open 30 minutes before the scheduled curtain time.

Waukegan Community Players in rehearsal for 'Chorus Line'

"A Chorus Line" will be presented by Waukegan Community Players March 15, 16, 17, 22 and 23 at 8 p.m. and March 17 at 3 p.m. in the Melba Wixom Theatre of Waukegan East High School, Washington and Jackson Sts., Waukegan.

"A Chorus Line," directed by Ken Smouse of Antioch, is a backstage musical about 17 dancers auditioning for eight roles in a Broadway show.

Besides being a terrific musical, "A Chorus Line" is also a terrific documentary. It's about pain to stand on stage and "be yourself" for a man you've never met before and then hear that you won't do.

It's about losing more than winning. When those who don't survive the final cut, shrug and pick up their equipment bags, you know what is going through their minds, "he didn't like my type, no, he didn't like me."

"A Chorus Line" is a show that you just have to know how it's going to turn out. Tickets are $7 for adults and $5 for students and seniors. For more information call (708)662-0181.

Local mini-models enjoying 'show biz'

by GLORIA DAVIS
Lakeland Newspapers

Four Round Lake Beach tots are finding out how much fun being in the modeling end of show business is.

The Deligio family of Round Lake Beach is used to creating a scene when they appear in public with their mirror-image triplets, Dominick, Danny and Sam.

Mom and Pop are accustomed to the three tots being the center of attention wherever they go and now they could be about to become television stars.

Being cute and cuddly are two of the main requisites for child models and the Deligio triplets deliver cuddliness and cuteness three times over, really enjoying being the center of the camera's attention almost as much as their Mom does watching them filming.

Their debut into the modeling world came with a television commercial for a new tv show called "Baby Talk." The commercial shows the triplets discussing the new show via voice overs similar to the sound track of the big movie hit "Look Who's Talking."

If the show goes on the networks, there is talk of having the Deligos make guest appearances playing out of town cousins.

"We'll just have to wait and see, but it's exciting to think about," says the triplet's Mom.

The Deligos, who have license plates that say Triplets 3, intend to encourage the tots' careers "as long as it continues to fun for the children."

Five-year-old John Michael Payton, also a Round Lake Beach resident, has a busy modeling career going, not only because he's cute to look at, but also because of his friendly personality.

All four tots do modeling for National Talent Associates of Chicago.

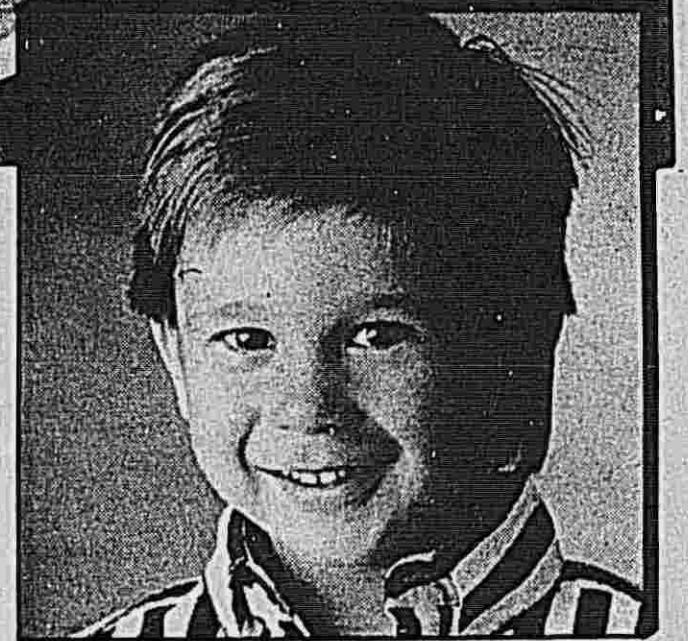

John Michael started out in a training film for McDonald's, a film that his mother also got into, playing of all things, a mother.

He is scheduled to appear in a Universal Flavors print ad showing him enjoying a sundae. Making the commercial was a blast for the tot, but he was disappointed

'Model' children

The two-year-old Deligio triplets, Dominick, Danny and Sam, Round Lake Beach, are enjoying their venture into show business as they make tv commercials and are eyeing the possibility of guest starring on television show. In insert, John Michael Payton, 5, also from Round Lake Beach, has a professional modeling career going. Posing for a Precious Moments figurine ad is one of his latest assignments. The parents of all four children feel that they are learning from doing the work they seem to enjoy so far.

when he found out that the sundae in question was made of plastic.

John Michael and another model did an ad for Precious Moments Figurines which shows the two tots serving their mother breakfast in bed.

But John Michael has another life outside of his career.

He loves to run in area races and is a fanatic wrestling and football fan, activities that will be a lot more fun when his father, who has been part of Operation Dessert Shield returns and they can be buddies.

John's younger brother Christopher, 3, is following in his big brother's footsteps as he has just embarked on a modeling career of his own.

See Hawaii on 60 cents a day

by JIM WARNKEN, PRESIDENT
NORTH STAR TRAVEL, INC.

Sounds almost as good as those guys who try and sell you round trip airfare to Hawaii for $19. Well I'm going to be a little more honest with my claim.

You really can see Hawaii on 60 cents a day. Now that doesn't include lodging, food, etc. We're just talking transportation and sightseeing here.

The island of Oahu (that's the one where you'll find Honolulu and Waikiki Beach) has its own rapid transit system called "Thebus." For 60 cents, free if you're over 65, you can travel around the entire island.

Hop on the bus at any one of several pick-up points in Waikiki and head out to Pearl Harbor. Forget the many commercial boat tours and take the Navy's free shuttle to the sunken hulk of the U.S.S. Arizona. It's also the only one that allows you to board the memorial.

For a day at the beach, take the bus to the breathtakingly beautiful Hanalei Bay. Bring along your snorkel and some frozen peas to feed the colorful coral fish. This bay is a marine preserve teeming with friendly fish that enjoy being hand fed. You can rent snorkeling equipment there, but that will add to your 60 cent day.

Want to get some pictures of surfers skimming down 30 foot waves? Stay on the bus all the way to the north shore. Get off at Sunset Beach. This is the site of the "Banzai Pipeline." Thunderous waves form tube-shape curls of enormous size making a perfect playground for world class surfers only.

Here's my first day of sightseeing suggestion. Stay on the bus until it returns to where you first boarded for a complete island tour for 60 cents. Take notes of the places you pass along the way that interested you. Use these notes to plan the rest of your week.

Barb fetes her Irish heritage with McNulty Irish Dancers

by GLORIA DAVIS
Lakeland Newspapers

Barbara McNulty has found a way to celebrate her Irish heritage, as well as spread some Emerald Isle practices, by teaching Irish dancing for the last 20 years.

With both parents coming straight from Erin itself, Barbara, and the other three McNulty children, were given lessons in the Irish dance early on.

Today, her sister helps her teach the nine Irish dancing classes that have 150 adults and children, doing the Irish jig, etc.

She teaches at the David Adler Cultural Center in Libertyville; at the Red Carpet Community Center in Mundelein and in seven other northwestern suburbs.

The Mundelein class is exclusively made-up of children, while the class at the Adler Center is comprised of both children and adults.

Her students learn how to do Irish jigs, reels, hornpipes and set dances. According to Barbara, it takes about eight years of one class per week, on a school schedule, to become an accomplished Gaelic terpsichorean performer.

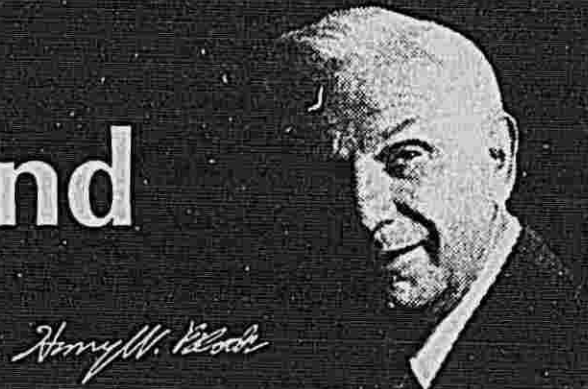

Her students will be performing all this week, through St. Pat's Day, on Sunday, at the Irish Village in Chicago.

They also performed at Winchester House in Libertyville on Wednesday and at Brentwood North in Riverwoods on Thursday.

One of the highlights of a dinner dance set for St. Bede's in Ingleside, on Friday, will be an appearance by the McNulty dancers.

They can also be seen at Maravels Banquet Hall in Fox Lake, at 8 p.m. on Saturday, and at 1:30 and 3:30 p.m., at the Village Tavern in Long Grove, on St. Pat's Day.

Captain of the Shamrock II toasts to St. Patrick's Day

Just around the corner St. Patrick is waitin' for us to help celebrate his day on Sunday, March 17. That's the day of the year when everyone is Irish, no matter what!

So here's an old Irish toast favored by Capt. John Nickell of the charter boat,

With Col. Bill Radke

Shamrock II on Lake Erie, to use during the celebration: "I wish you health, I wish you wealth, and happiness galore. I wish you heaven when you die, now, how could I wish you more?"

Remember also that two days later, the swallows are due to return to San Juan Capistrano, Calif., a date firmly imbedded in our minds over the centuries of this memorable natural phenomenon.

Then, even more important to outdoor lovers is the calendar that changes to spring on March 20. This is followed by March going out like a lamb on Sunday, March 31.

Guess what kind of roast you should have for dinner that day? Putting it all together, March is an exciting month for all, even the whales that flew in to take residence under the cover of darkness at the Shedd Aquarium on our lakefront.

But the Great Lakes are under a period of concern for a small invader about the size of an adult's finger nail, known as a Zebra Mussel. You can call it Dreissena Polymorpha, if you wish.

This hardshell character, according to the Ohio Sea Grant Publications, originated, in the Poland-Russian area and spread throughout the continent by encrustments on the hulls of barges and in contaminated ballast water. Now they are fond in all the Great Lakes and attach to any firm surface.

Zebra mussels are believed to have been introduced to the Great Lakes by transoceanic vessels in 1985. By 1989, colonies covered nearly every rigid object in the lake. They have a huge appetite for plankton which was the effect of clearing cloudy water, much to the pleasure of scuba divers.

Their reproductions is a marvel and a healthy female zebra mussel may generate over 30,000 eggs per season. Some areas have counted 30 to 70,000 animals per square meter, which may live from three to five years.

During the late 1980's panic was rampant in the Lake Erie area, fear of the unknown prevailed and doomsdayers predicted another dead lake. This has not yet happened.

And remember, they have lived in Europe for over 200 years where zebra mussel beds have become preferred feeding grounds for diving ducks and coots.]

1990 reports from the Ohio Sea Grant Program are upbeat and recognize no predictions of lake disaster so far. It has been a good year for walleye despite negative predictions.

Boaters have been careful in the use of anti-fouling bottom paint and much less hull damage had been reported, than in 1987-88.

The study predicts, however, there is no limit to where these mussels may be transported by boats, birds and animals and may eventually be found throughout the North American continent.

It will take a few years to determine the environmental impact on the lake's ecological system, industries, and water treatment facilities bordering them.

The spreading impact seems to have levelled out from the overwhelming initial explosion and new ways are being tested to control the infestation.

Effective derivatives of potassium, a common and inexpensive chemical, seem harmless to other life systems in the ecology thus far. They are more economical and ecologically friendlier than poisons currently used to combat the mussel infestations.

An unofficial observation by Captain Nickell has optimistic tones as he reports his charter boat Shamrock II had no mussels attached when he took her out his fall.

He also notes clearer shallow waters are attracting bait fish habitation which will provide more gamefish food and better fishing.

421 W. ROLLINS ROAD (708) 546-2512 ROUND LAKE

Jewish families will be celebrating the Passover for eight days starting March 30.

One does not have to be Italian to enjoy pizza or Chinese to like chop suey. Ergo trying a recipe from "The Jewish Holiday Kitchen" by Joan Nathan could be an enjoyable new palate experience.

Potato knishes

- 4 1/2 cups mashed potatoes
- 3 eggs
- 1/2 cup matzo meal
- 1/4 tsp. pepper
- 3 tps. salt
- 2 large onions
- 4 Tbls. cooking fat

Mix potatoes, beaten eggs, meal, pepper, and two teaspoons salt. Brown onions in hot fat, and add one teaspoon salt. Flatten small pancakes of the potato mixture in the hand. Cover with brown onions. Press another pancake on top. Roll in matzo meal. Fry in hot fat or bake in hot oven (400 degrees).

Serves 6 to 8.

Passover cheese blintzes

- 3 eggs
  - 1/2 tsp. salt
  - 3/4 cup matzo cake flour
  - 1 1/2 cup water (about)
- Beat eggs and add salt, flour and water alternately to make a thine batter. Put three tablespoons of batter in a hot greased skillet, spreading out as thin as possible. Fry brown on one side. Turn out on a towel browned side up. Cool and spread with filling. Fold sides in and roll up. Fry again, turning once to brown both sides. Serve with sour cream or plain.

Makes 6 blintzes.

Cheese filling: Mix one pound cottage cheese and one egg, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon sugar, and one tablespoon thick sour cream.

Blintzes with preserves: Spread a thin layer of preserves over each pancake. Roll up and brown lightly.

Meat blintzes: Fry pancakes in chicken fat. Fill with any seasoned cooked, chopped meat, or chicken moistened with beaten egg.

Prune blintzes: Spread a tablespoonful of chopped raw prunes, sweetened to taste, on each pancake.

Hot borscht

- 2 pounds beef brisket
- 2 pounds beef marrow bones
- 3 quarts water
- 6 young beets, with tops
- 1 tsp. salt
- 1/2 tsp. black pepper

- 1 bay leaf
- 2 onions, quartered
- 1 clove garlic
- 4 Tbls. brown sugar
- 1/2 cup red wine vinegar
- 2 eggs lightly beaten

Place the meat and bones in a large soup pot aligning with the water. Bring to a boil over high heat, skimming the foam. While the water is heating, cut off the beet tops and chop them roughly. Peel and trim the beets, then quarter them.

When water boils, add the beets and tops to the pot along with the seasonings, bay leaf, onions, and garlic. Bring the liquid back to a boil, reduce the heat, cover, and simmer for two hours.

Strain the soup. Remove the meat and bones, reserving the meat for your entree and discarding the bones. Discard the bay leaf. Puree the vegetables in a blender or food processor and return them to the soup. Pour the soup back into the pot, but reserve one cup of liquid. Stir the sugar and vinegar into the soup. Heat the soup to just below boiling, stirring constantly to prevent curdling, and serve hot.

Makes 8 servings.

Date pudding

- 3/4 cup sugar
- 1 cup matzo meal
- 3 eggs, separated and beaten
- 1/2 cup chopped nuts
- 1/4 pound dates, cut or chopped fine

Mix in the order given, folding egg whites in last. Turn into a well-greased pudding dish. Set the pudding dish in a pan of hot water and bake 45 minutes at 350 degrees. Serve with any fruit sauce.

Serves 8.

Legs, spicy comedy

by TOM WITOM

The Forum Theater in Summit sets the stage for "Breaking Legs" long before the performance gets under way. The heavenly scent of baked garlic is piped into the air, triggering the appropriate appetite for Tom Dulack's spicy but light comedy set entirely in a New England Italian restaurant.

It's a clever takeoff involving an unsuspecting low-key

college professor who, in his quest to find financial backers for an off-Broadway production of his murder mystery, gets mixed up with some real-life aging gangster-types with intimate knowledge of the subject.

His would-be angels are no patrons of the arts. They're more comfortable shooting craps, but are inclined to go along with the project to keep peace with Angie, the strong-willed manager of the restaurant and daughter of one of their pals.

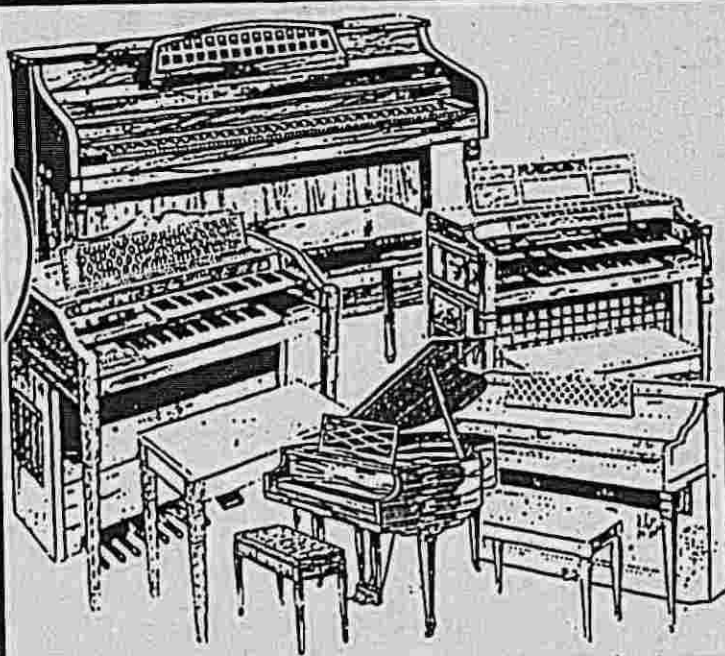

A vivacious Paula Flanagan carries off the role as the leggy college dropout-turned-restaurateur whose interest in her former teacher goes beyond his writing and directing ability.

William Brown fits neatly into this Italian sit-com as Terence O'Keefe, the Irishman who claims to have lost his vitality and virility.

And Vince Viverito (Uncle Mike) brings down the house with his unusual chuckle, one totally bereft of lip movement.

"Breaking Legs," superbly directed by William Pullinsi, is to run through May 12.

It's time for the Wildcats to roar!

by STEVE PETERSON
Lakeland Newspapers

There was still some time left on the game clock at Welsh-Ryan Arena.

But Libertyville basketball Coach Max Sanders knew his team had accomplished what it set out to do back in November. With a tight-knit senior group, the Wildcats gained Lake County's first Elite Eight appearance since 1981 with a 61-39 thrashing of New Trier.

Just as the celebration at Northwestern University began with over a minute to go, Sanders raised his hands, pointing to the stands across the way. His family responded with big, broad smiles, knowing the waiting for the trip to Champaign is over.

"I could not be happier," Peggy Sanders, the coach's wife, said as the family began to celebrate. "He deserves it."

The Wildcats outmuscled a taller New Trier team and dictated the tempo to win their 24th game against six losses, advancing to Assembly Hall to face Hillcrest. The quarterfinal game is set for 12:15 p.m. March 15.

"We just tried to match up with them. We knew a player of his calibre (6-8 Rick Hielscher) would get his points, but we wanted to get all the help we could on the back side. When they went 1-3-1, we went 1-3-1, they went 2-1-2, we went 2-1-2. Our team really stuck to the game plan. Our goal was to play in the big hall and we're going now," Sanders, with a wide grin, said.

Hielscher was the leading Trevian scorer with 15 points, the only one to hit double figures as New Trier was held to 30 percent shooting from the field. Libertyville, meanwhile, shot a hot 57.9 percent. Senior Andy Bauer led Libertyville with 20 points and Matt Williams had 19. Bauer was a hot eight-for-10 from the field while Williams was six-for-11.

Libertyville, although a big team which can get the ball inside, also has the luxury of five people who can play the perimeter roles. The Wildcats made seven-for-15 three-point shots, 47 percent, while New Trier missed 14 of 17.

Andy Bauer said the size of the Trevians did not bother his team. "Just because they are 6-9, does not mean we cannot box them out," he said.

Despite what was at stake, this is a confident Wildcat bunch which began to take a lead late in the first quarter. LHS led 11-7 after one, then outscored New Trier 21-15 in the second quarter and put the game away with a 17-5 third-quarter run.

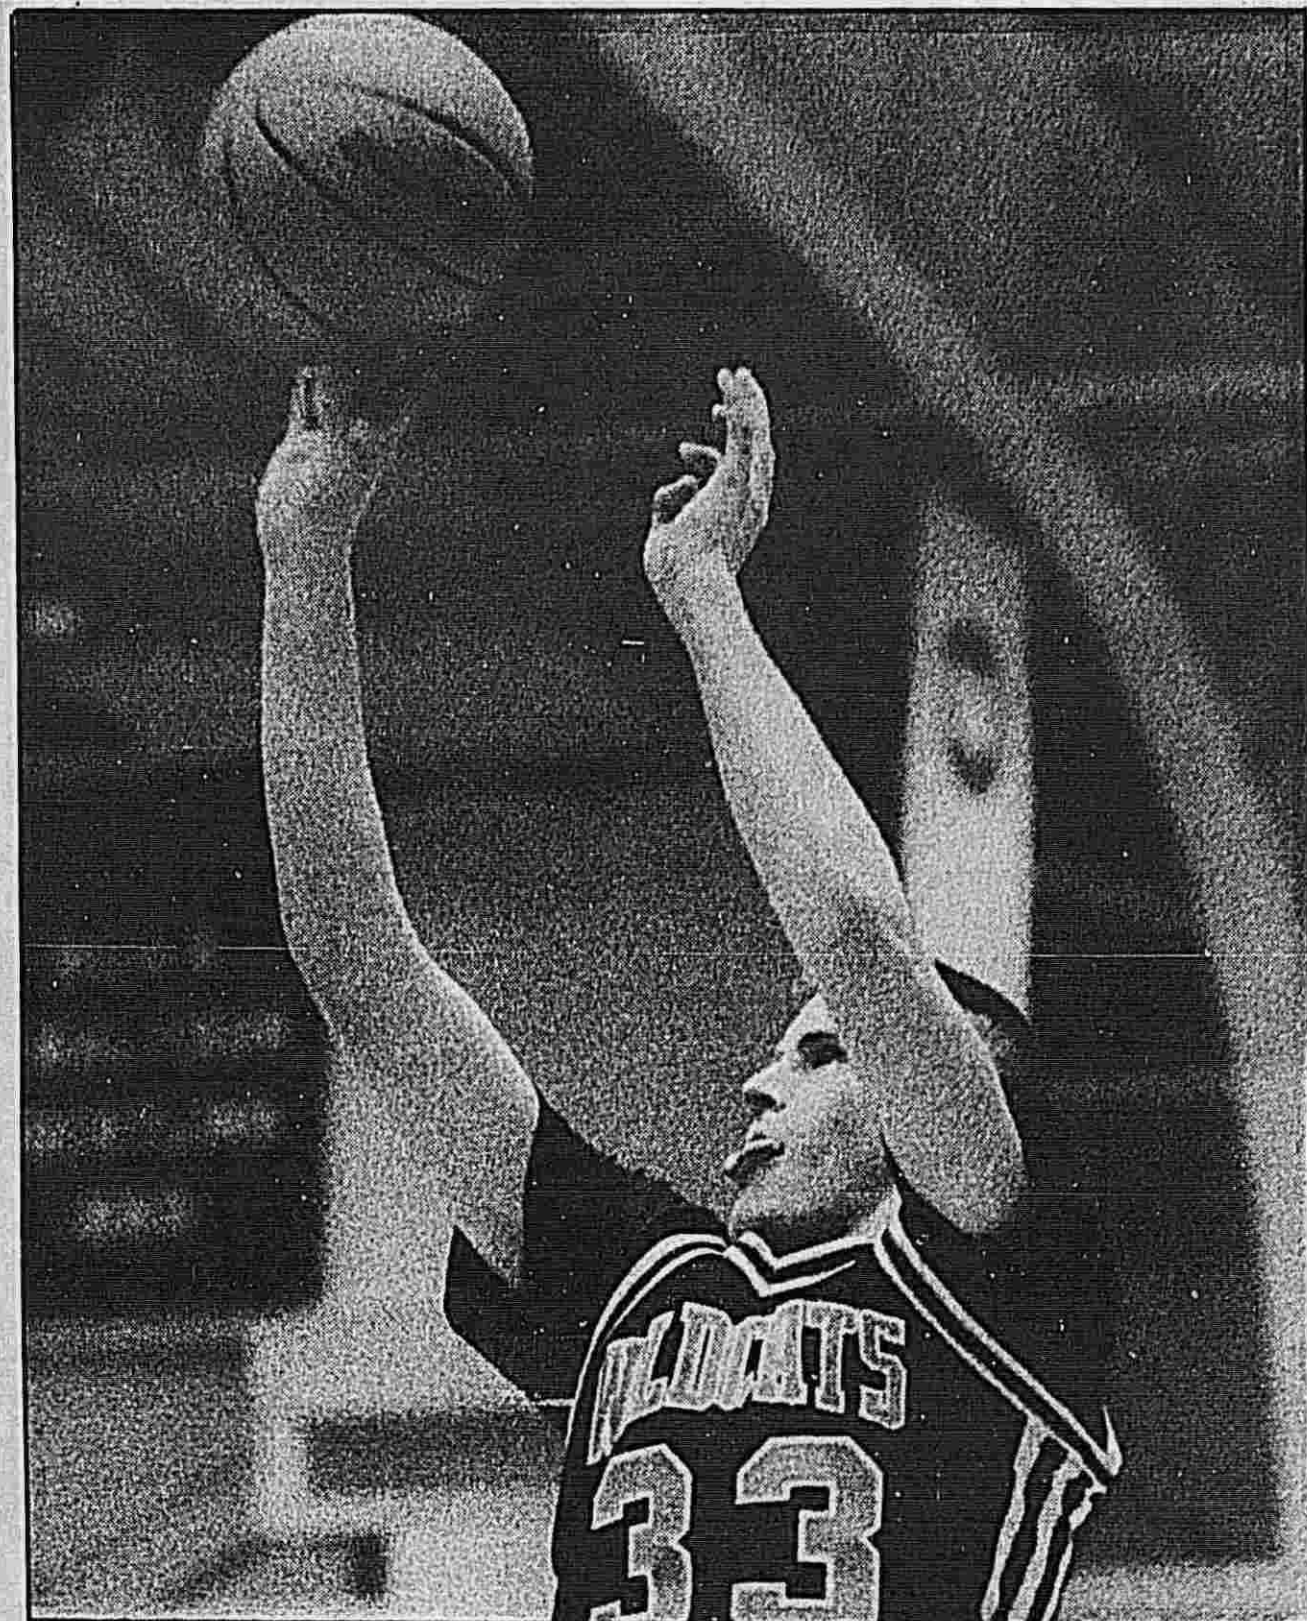

"We felt good from the beginning. We just went out and did it," Andy Bauer said.

Libertyville led 10-7 on a three-pointer by guard John Cimaroli and free-throw to close the first quarter.

Libertyville, third seed in the Waukegan sectional, made its first four shots of the second quarter. A fastbreak hoop by Cimaroli gave the Wildcats a 20-11 lead and LHS led 32-22 at halftime.

Libertyville continued its hot shooting in the second half. Just when New Trier needed to rally, the Wildcats begin hitting three-pointers to up the lead to 20, 44-24.

"They shot the ball extremely well and played well as a group. We could not get a run in the third quarter when we had to," New Trier Coach Mel Sheets said.

'Cats avoid letdown, end Carmel's jinx

by STEVE PETERSON
Lakeland Newspapers

Sometimes, listening to the Libertyville High School basketball fans will give one all the information one needs.

"They play three good quarters, the question is, which three?" one fan, clad in school colors orange and black, said. The comment was made during the wild pre-game enthusiasm, as the Libertyville crowd tried to get their Wildcats ready for the Waukegan sectional title game against Carmel.

And the Wildcats and their fans had fresh memories of losing a 13-point lead two nights before against Warren in the second half and numerous other occasions this year when the Libertyville team lost big leads. But this time the Wildcats brushed away the fans and players' concerns just as easily as they had Carmel away from inside rebounds as the Wildcats won their first sectional title ever with a 68-52 win.

"We've done that a couple of times a year, ahead 13, 16 points at halftime and then come out in the third quarter and lose it. Coach (Sanders) said in the lockerroom, 'remember what happened against Warren', and that scared us," Libertyville senior Andy Bauer who scored a team-leading 21 points, said.

Duely scared, the Wildcats used their bulk inside to increase a 34-29 halftime lead to nine by the end of the third quarter. Libertyville kept on rolling on the fourth, increasing the lead to 15 points and the closest Carmel would get was 12.

"Andy (assistant coach Bitta) and I were both concerned at the start of the first quarter. First, we might let down a little bit, we also saw the Carmel came out against Stevenson (an 80-66 Carmel win) and we were worried about that - that they might come out fired up," Sanders said.

"I was never worried, because I thought we were in control," Bauer said.

It was Bauer, as with the rest of the LHS starters a graduate of Highland Junior High, that propelled the Wildcats to second half leads after Carmel had come to within three points on an outside jumper by Kevin Ryan. In the third quarter, Bauer went up the middle for a hoop, for a nine-point LHS lead. He later hit two free throws for a 60-46 lead to ice the win with 2:20 left. At that point, his wish since his basketball career started early in grade school the had become reality.

The victory, which advances Libertyville to the super-sectional round at Northwestern University against New Trier, marked the fifth time since 1985 an area team has advanced to within one game of Champaign and the Elite Eight. The team's records, though, were 0-4.

"Our defense worked and the second half we got to the end of the game and we said let Eisenbarth score inside. (Pete, who led Carmel with 17 points) get his points, even if they are layups. Our biggest concern was we were fouling a couple of times to stop the clock. I don't care if you shoot layups, just don't stop the clock. I thought we had a big enough lead, plus they had to chase us a little and we were able to spread them out. We said, we don't want to get fouled," Sanders said.

The win was especially sweet for Sanders, a Libertyville High School graduate. Through five post-season losses to Carmel, including last year's upset in the first round of regionals, he may have wondered if the ride on his player's shoulders would ever come.

CLC women continue improvement process

by STEVE PETERSON
Lakeland Newspapers

When Don Zeman took over the College of Lake County's women's basketball program four years ago, he may not have known just what he had gotten himself into.

'I was pretty pleased with the progress we made from the beginning to the end.' - College of Lake County women's basketball Coach Don Zeman.

The Lancers had won four games the year before. Zeman signed on when most of the seniors at Lake County high schools had already decided on colleges for the next year. Yet, that first team won eight contests that season.

"Little by little, we keep making improvement despite not having a full squad yet," Zeman said.

CLC won nine games in Zeman's second year and this year improved to 12-15 overall. The CLC season ended with a 65-53 loss to Truman in the second round of the NJCAA sectional tournament.

Now, the second season begins for Zeman and the Lancers. That is, recruiting. Zeman will be sending letters to all graduating seniors, hoping they bring their basketball talents to the CLC campus in Grayslake.

CLC must replace three talented sophomores, each of whom carved a niche for themselves on the Lancer squad. They include Grayslake graduate Jessica Elsner, Zion-Benton's Susan Spiller and Antioch's Kelly Doyle. Zeman's comments on all three:

Elsner: "the effort and intensity of Jessica Elsner will be missed for sure."

Spiller: "she was our three-point shooting leader two years in a row. That is a gap we are going to have to fill."

Doyle: "she was our best interior defender, without a doubt."

Doyle finished averaging 10 rebounds a game.

"I was pretty pleased with the progress we made from the beginning to the end," Zeman said. CLC lost five of its first six games but came close to the .500 mark against junior college foes, 12-13.

Caryn Alexander, who is likely to be named to the all-Skyway Conference team, led the team in scoring at 18.7 points a game, but the key to the Lancers was if someone else could share the load. In the 82-57 tournament-opening win over Malcom X, Sue Spiller came through with 22 points to compliment Alexander's 24.

In the loss to Truman, Spiller was next highest scorer with nine points.

Truman proved to be CLC's undoing all year as the Lancers lost three games to the Falcons. Truman led 33-20 at halftime and CLC tried to rally in the second half. It cut the Falcons lead to six points at one point in the second half, but Truman pulled away with free-throws.

"We played better in the second half, but we were probably nervous in the first half and that is what created a hole," Zeman said.

The visitors also suffered from poor shooting from the outside, as Truman tried to stop Alexander's inside scoring threat.

CLC's Alexander, a Highland Park graduate will lead a contingent of five players who could return to the CLC lineup in November. "They all played in all the games they were available for and that experience should help us next year," Zeman said.

Wauconda graduate Rachel Smith, Gina DeGrazia from Highland Park also return.

That, and if some of the talented group of seniors decide to stay in Lake County, the Lancers may indeed be able to clear the hurdle of a full squad and a .500 or better record.

List ticket outlets for banquet to honor Ryan

Ten sales locations have been established where tickets will be available for the fourth annual Keith Ryan Scholarship Fund banquet April 18 featuring Otto Graham, a member of the National Football League Hall of Fame and one of the greatest quarterbacks ever to play the game.

Graham, a Waukegan native, will speak at the benefit being held in memory of Ryan, a long-time Lake County area radio and television broadcaster who died of cancer in 1988.

As a result of previous Ryan fund-raisers, for the past three years a $1,000 scholarship has been awarded to a student at the College of Lake County interested in pursuing a career in either print or broadcast journalism.

Tickets for the prime rib dinner banquet at the country Squire Restaurant in Grayslake are $27.50 apiece, two for $55, or $25 each for tables of eight to 10 people. They're on sale at the following locations:

Antioch, State Bank of Antioch, 440 Lake St.

Grayslake, The College of Lake County Foundation office on the Grayslake campus.

Libertyville, The Sportsman, 608 N. Milwaukee Ave.

Park City, Waukegan Pizza Co., 3355 Belvidere Rd.

Waukegan, Mayor's office, City Hall, 106 N. Utica; Dr. John Schwab's office, 1906 Grand Ave; the athletic department offices of East High School, 1011 Washington St., and West High School, 2325 Brookside Ave.; Grand Sporting Goods, 1816 Grand Ave.

Graham, an all-state performer at Waukegan

High and All-America in football and basketball at Northwestern University, led the Cleveland Browns to an unmatched 10 consecutive league championship games, four in the All-America Football Conference and six in the NFL. Cleveland won seven of those title games while compiling an overall record of 105 victories, 17 losses and 4 ties, a .849 winning percentage.

During that period from 1946 to 1955 Graham compiled impressive individual statistics, throwing for more than 23,000 yards and 175 touchdowns with a completion record of almost 54 percent.

Graham's varied athletic career also included playing a year of pro basketball with the Rochester Royals, coaching the Washington Redskins and College All-Stars and serving as athletic director at the U.S. Coast Guard Academy.

In 1990, Inside Sports Magazine selected Graham as the finest pro quarterback ever over Joe Montana, who directed the San Francisco 49ers to four Super Bowl victories in the 1980s.

Graham, who currently owns a private golf course in Sarasota, Fla., underwent a colostomy for colon cancer in 1976 and since that time has become an active spokesman for early detection and treatment of the disease.

Another feature of the evening will be induction into the Waukegan Sports Hall of Fame of two more persons who have contributed to the area athletic scene. Graham was the first inductee into the hall, sponsored by the Waukegan Lions Club, and Ryan the most recent.

In addition to Graham, who will present an autographed football to a fortunate ticket holder, a number of other past and present professional athletes will attend the banquet and be placed at tables of the guests.

Determination propels 'Cats past Blue Devils

by STEVE PETERSON

Lakeland Newspapers

Chalk one up for determination.

For Libertyville High School's basketball team was simply not to be denied this time against Warren. The stakes in the game between the two North Suburban Conference rivals was the highest yet, and Libertyville survived 51-50 to advance to the championship game of the Waukegan sectional against Carmel.

This group has lost to Warren four straight times and we were not about to let it get to five, much less three times in one year," Libertyville's Brian Davis said.

Davis, one of eight seniors on the Libertyville roster, scored the winning basket on an inside spin move with 19 seconds left for the win. Warren had recovered from a 13-point first-half deficit to take a three-point lead, but Davis snuck in as the Warren defense keyed on Matt Williams.

Davis' layup proves key

For Williams had scored on a three-point play, a field goal and free throw, for a 49-49 tie. He earlier hit a three-point shot for a tie at 46 with 1:22 left.

Still, Libertyville had to survive a last-second shot by Warren's Dave Huntington. "We knew they wanted to go to Steve Karolewicz, but Williams did a good job on him," Davis said.

The celebration was an emotional one for Libertyville. "Nothing would be better than to be in the sectional championship," Davis said.

"It's the greatest feeling I've ever had," Williams, who scored 24 points, said.

For Warren, 22-6, the season ended because, after taking a three-point lead at 44-41 on an Ian Whittington layup, Warren could not score a field goal for three straight possessions - two misses and a turnover.

"I give the kids a lot of credit. We dug ourselves in a hole in the second quarter when we were one-for-12. After that, the kids came back for a three-point lead. At a timeout, we said this was the place where we had to score and we didn't," Warren Coach Darrel Bader said.

Bader termed 'difficult' Davis's game-winning spin move.

Whittington, who fouled out with 51 seconds left to a standing ovation from the Warren faithful, shared scoring honors with Steve Karolewicz with 17 points. Libertyville outmuscled Warren 27-21 in rebounds. One telling stat was guard Craig Shelton led Warren with nine.

Whittington scored Warren's first nine points for a 9-5 lead. Jon Bauer, who scored 11 points, hit a three-pointer to close the gap to 12-10. Libertyville gained a 15-13 advantage after one.

Warren began a severe one-for-17 shooting slump midway through the second quarter that allowed the Wildcats a 32-19 lead.

Then came Warren's rally, thanks to seven-for-11 shooting, capped off by a Karolewicz basket. Two free throws by Shelton trimmed the lead to 36-34 after three.

A 12-footer by Karolewicz gained Warren a tie but Williams answered with a three-pointer. Whittington's dunk off a fastbreak gave Warren a three-point lead at 42-39.

But a determined Libertyville group would not let that stop them.

Sectional crown ends a long wait for Koch

by STEVE PETERSON
Lakeland Newspapers

Throughout the day, Thom Koch would mention an upcoming event to his classes.

He would tell students at Hawthorn Junior High about a certain basketball game to be played that night at Waukegan East High School between Carmel and Libertyville. The stakes would be high - a trip to the Northwestern super-sectional, so ask your parents to drive you there but get there early.

And moments after Libertyville knocked off Carmel 68-52 for the trip to Evanston, several Hawthorn students surrounded Koch as the celebration continued.

"It's just great. I've been with Max (Sanders, Libertyville's head coach) 10 or 11 years," Koch said.

Before the games, Koch may sharpen a pencil or two before he drives the team bus to the away game sites. Once there, he takes a familiar place at the scorer's table as the LHS scorer. He recalls the near-misses over the years in tournament play over the years, including March 5, 1985. That's when Carmel's Bill Graham scored the winning basket as time expired for a 61-59 Carmel win in the regional final at Warren.

"Everyone was jumping up and down, Carmel fans because they thought they had won and Libertyville fans because they thought the time had expired," Koch said.

Then there was the last time the Wildcats advanced to within a game of the Sweet Sixteen. Highland Park used a sharp-shooting second half to end the LHS season.

Koch, who has been a nationally recognized bus driver at Hawthorn Dist. 73, coached varsity girls volleyball at Grayslake High School.

The Wildcats, 23-6, were in the running for the North Suburban Conference title and it looked as though they were in good position until a certain weekend in February. "People had given up on this team after the losses to Warren and Stevenson," Koch said, recalling a weekend of defeats.

Libertyville recovered, winning the regular-season finale over North Chicago and entering the Waukegan sectional as the third seed.

The Wildcats cruised past Zion-Benton in the first-round then tipped Warren 51-50 on a layup by Brian Davis.

Against Carmel, the Wildcats took over in the second half, increasing a five point halftime lead to 16 as Andy Bauer led with 21 points. Matt Williams was "held" to 14, but John Cimaroli added 13 and Jon Bauer had 10.

"Can you think of anything better than this?," Koch said as Wildcat faithful celebrated at centercourt.

Guard Cimaroli plays a key role

by STEVE PETERSON
Lakeland Newspapers

John Cimaroli started the Waukegan sectional contest on a high note for Libertyville.

Libertyville's first minute and a half had seen a turnover, a miss and two free-throws, but Cimaroli hit a three-point shot for the first field goal of the night.

It was just that kind of determination which carried the senior guard through to scoring 13 points as the Wildcats eliminated Carmel 68-52 for the sectional title.

"They played me real tight, but it is my job to bring the ball up the court to dish off. I needed to create a little more because the past few games, I have been too passive," Cimaroli said.

Cimaroli had a chance to watch the work of fellow seniors Andy Bauer (21 points) and Matt Williams (14 points) dominate the inside game, especially in the second half.

"That was the difference. We played great inside defense and we rebounded the heck out of the basketball. That proved to be the two most important factors," Cimaroli said.

Libertyville, 23-6, held a slim 15-14 lead after one, as Brian Davis scored on two two tip-ins at the end of the quarter. Davis then hit a 16 footer for a 17-16 Libertyville lead.

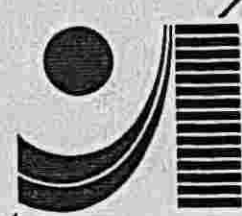

Cimaroli, after an outside jumper by Andy Bauer, hit two baskets. The first gave Carmel a 21-18 lead and the second was a baseline drive on a nifty one-on-one move which propelled the orange-and-black team to a 23-18 margin. Libertyville would keep that margin until halftime.

Cimaroli, five-foot, 10 inch, 150 pounds, broke free on a fastbreak in the third quarter as Libertyville began to break the game open. He was fouled and hit two free throws for a 42-33 lead with 3:03 left. He hit two more at the :37 juncture to keep Carmel at bay.

Cimaroli scored seven points to help the Wildcats' cause in a 61-39 romp over New Trier in the Northwestern super-sectional.

WESTMONT

OVERALL DIMENSIONS: 39'-0" X 44'-0"
LIVING: 2129 square feet

FIRST FLOOR PLAN

SECOND FLOOR PLAN

WESTMONT (400-18)
By Landmark Designs, Inc.

Inside the Westmont's charming Victorian exterior lies a contemporary home with creatively shaped rooms and all the modern amenities.

Old-fashioned windows, custom cedar shakes, a spacious columned veranda, and a captain's walk above the door, all add to the Victorian charm. Oval glass in the front door provides the finishing touch.

Very few of the rooms are rectangular. Flows of antique glass windows curve across the oval-shaped end of the living room as well as the master suite, located directly above it. Fireplaces, optional for both, are vented through a double chimney.

One side of the dining room, also graced by a wall of windows, is decidedly octagonal. A wide U-shaped kitchen is conveniently located between the dining room and a nook/family room combination. These rooms are also richly windowed.

Clustered in the center, surrounded by the family living areas, are a pantry utility room and half-bath. While each of these rooms is too oddly shaped to describe, the combination makes an efficient use of space.

An open staircase curves up the side of a wide foyer to the master suite and bedroom on the second level. The master suite has a generous step-in closet, and both the master bath and the other bathroom feature double vanities, separate from the water closet. This arrangement eliminates steamy mirrors and increases family harmony.

For a study plan of the WESTMONT (400-18), send $7.50 to Landmark Design, P.O. Box 2307, Eugene, OR 97402. (Be sure to specify plan name & number when ordering.) Designers, Architects and readers with plans they would like to see featured also are invited to contact Landmark.

Stage set to annex district for shopping

Final details have been ironed out for a major Fox Lake annexation that will add 40 acres for a shopping center in a vote expected to be taken Monday night, March 18.

The meeting was advanced one day to enable trustees running for reelection to attend a Candidate's Night Tuesday, March 19, the regular date for council meetings. The political event is being sponsored by the Grant Township Republican Club.

Trustee Kenneth Buchardt, chairman of zoning, said the preannexation agreement contains strict requirements and eliminates 32 business categories developer James Kanzler had requested under special use provisions.

Trustee Kenneth Hamsher told the council that he personally inspected a situation at Lake Villa where a school is located near liquor establishments and found "not a single violations." Objectors argued that a shopping center near Big Hollow School with liquor dealers would be a bad influence on the school.

Mayor Frank Meier polled each council member for final questions. The mayor praised Village Atty. Gil Johnson for preparation of an excellent document. "He's the best real estate person in the area," Meier declared.

Johnson reported that the agreement is the result of 17 rewrites to meet village requirements. Atty. Sam Diamond, representing Kanzler, said his client is satisfied with the final document.

Johnson urged the village to pursue state funding for providing sewer service, a knotty problem during negotiations. He said he hoped availability of state funds might make imposition of a special tax district for tenants to guarantee sewer construction costs unnecessary.

The proposed center will be located at Rtes. 12 and 134.

continue to grow in a positive way," she said, "I feel I am a fair and honest person who can make impartial decisions based on facts given."

In commending the role of her slate-partners (incumbent trustees Amundsen and Weber), she cites the importance of resolving the dissent between the mayor and the police chief.

Putting the conflict to rest and opening discussion on all issues, she says, will move the village "in a positive direction."

Close adherence to the village's comprehensive plan is crucial for the welfare of the village, she says.

"I feel that both commercial and residential growth are equally necessary, but in proportions that are right for Antioch," she said.

A graduate of Antioch Community High School, she is the former owner of Antioch Wallcovering. She has been employed for two years as office manager for a dentist. She left the position in Nov., 1990, but continues to fill in when needed.

She and her husband, Ken, have two sons, Eric, 21; and Sean, 18.

Goals for office: to see the village grow in a realistic conscientious manner; encourage commercial and industrial growth to improve tax base, focus on alternatives for children and teens, such as a bike trail and an area for skateboarding; provide opportunities for village employees by continuing to modernize village equipment, to be a fair and honest trustee who is accessible to all citizens.

ANASTASIOS MARAVELAS

'All I need is a chance to get elected and help my community. And right now, the community needs change and I'm for that change.'

A resident of Antioch since 1973, Maravelas has been engaged in operating restaurants in the area. Together with his wife, Olga, the couple owns and operates Maravelas Inc., Fox Lake.

Self-employed for 30 years, he says his business background will be a valuable asset as a trustee.

He advocates the redevelopment of the downtown area and encourages retail business ventures in the area.

Continued industrial and residential development is also favorable, he says, with an emphasis on recruiting light industry to the area.

He says that being visible and well-known in the community will help him, especially when gathering feedback on various issues.

"All I need is a chance to get elected and help my community," he said, "and right now, the community needs change and I'm for that change."

Maravelas and his wife have two children, Maria, 22, and Jim, 20.

MABEL LOU WEBER (UNITY PARTY)

'I am available to respond to the needs of the citizens and will remain so.'

Her eight years experience as trustee, Weber says, have given her an understanding and knowledge of the needs of the village.

"I am available to respond to the needs of the citizens and will remain so," she said.

She says that she believes that the present board is solid in its agreement as to conservative fiscal management and concerns of irresponsible growth potential. However, disagreements over management and authority within village departments weaken the bond.

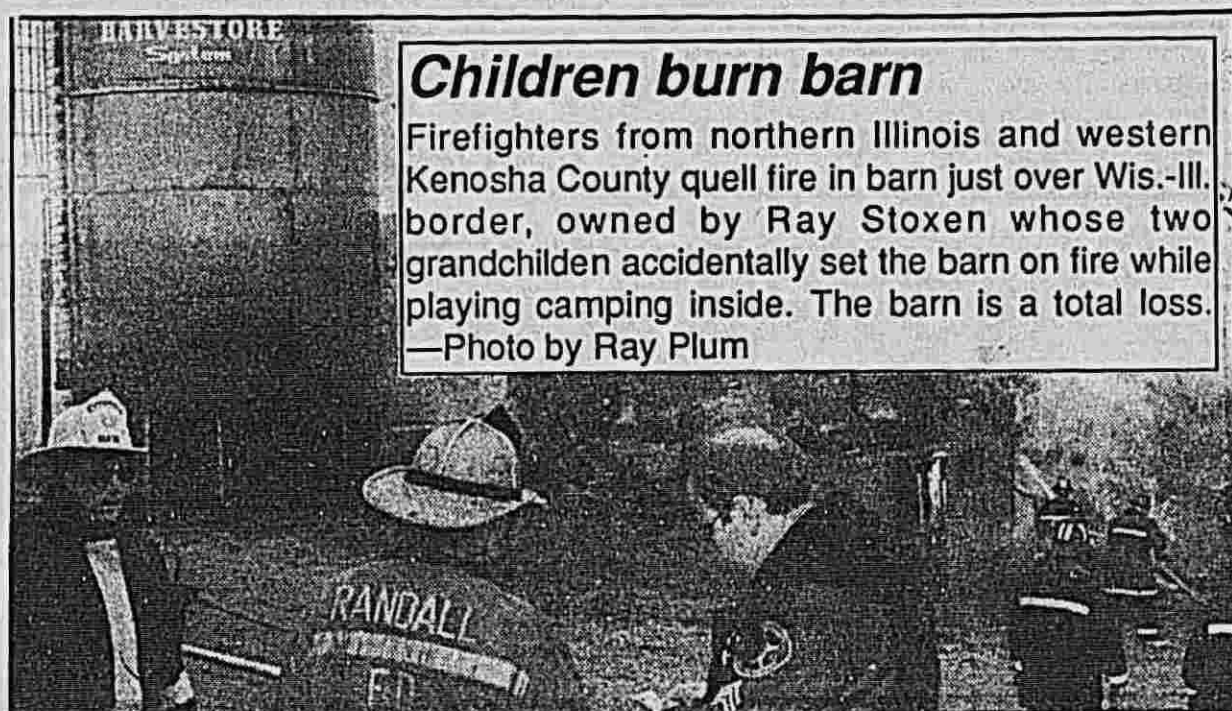

An advocate of continued studies, programs and proposals to achieve healthy, responsible growth and strong fiscal management, she applauds the actions such as the hiring of consultant Bert Stitt, an expert downtown revitalization projects.

A lifelong resident of Antioch and an Antioch Community High School graduate, Weber is semi-retired from her position as comptroller for Century 21 Michael Warren & Co., Antioch. She attended Knox College and has been employed at Illinois Bell, Antioch Bowling Lanes and other locations.

For nearly 40 years, she has played the organ at the United Methodist Church of Antioch. She is a member of several local organizations including the Antioch Woman's Club, Antioch Chapter OES, State Bank of Antioch Golf League and Women's Thursday Afternoon Bowling League. She is the mother of five and her husband, the late Arnold, had served as an Antioch Village Trustee.

Goals for office: "To strive to keep our village moving and growing in a positive and responsible direction that will be beneficial to all the citizens of the village and to be an active participant as we begin our centennial celebration next year."

Check car tire pressure on regular basis

It's quick, it's easy, it's free and, best of all, even the home mechanic who's all thumbs can do it.

The "it" is checking the pressure in your car's tires, something you should be doing on a regular basis.

Air is still free in many service stations, and inexpensive tire gauges are even available in supermarkets. Improper tire inflation takes its toll of tires through uneven wear and, in some cases, accidents.

In addition to forcing you to replace tires more frequently, and underinflated tire creates more rolling resistance. More simply put, it means that your car burns more gasoline trying to push itself along on underinflated tires.

Estimates show that a tire underinflated by only five pounds of air increases fuel consumption by as much as seven percent. What is the right amount of air to put in your tire?

This depends not only on the tire but on how you plan to drive your car. Most manufacturers list recommended tire pressures in owner's manuals supplied with their cars.

If you don't have an owner's manual for your car, look inside the glovebox or on your car's sun visor for a sticker listing pressures.

Recommended pressures normally apply to cold tires, meaning that you should check your tire pressures early in the morning, before you drive your car.

Also listed on the table are recommended tire pressures for cruising at certain speeds with a given number of passengers and amount of baggage. The rule of thumb here is to increase tire pressures as anticipated cruising speeds or loads rise.

If underinflating a tire is bad, what about overinflation? The answers is that putting too much air in your tires is not advisable because, like underinflation, this can also cause tires to wear prematurely, decrease ride comfort, alter your car's handling performance, and reduce the tires' contact patch, that small square of your tire in contact with the road's surface at a given moment.

How do you know if your car's tires need more or less air? One way is that an underinflated tire will often show wear on the outer surfaces of the tread.

An overinflated tire will show wear by the smoothing of the tread in the middle of the tire, but your best bet is keeping a tire gauge in your car and taking readings regularly.

By Federal law, all tires sold in this country must incorporate wear indicators in the form of smooth, treadless strips running across the width of the tire, which become visible as the tire's tread reaches the point that indicates the tire should be replaced. Don't play with fire, when it is time to replace worn tires, do so at the first opportunity.

WHEN SHE GOT THERE THE CUPBOARD WAS BARE

There's an old nursery rhyme about Old Mother Hubbard who went to her cupboard to get her poor dog a bone.

The same story holds true today when we spend the money we earn locally in out-of-town stores and malls. Local businesses need everyone's support to continue providing goods and services at competitive prices.

Protect your own community "cupboard" from becoming "bare" through the loss of business and services by shopping at home.
